

Final Vote on Tax Cut Due Next Week in Both Houses

Conferees In Accord On Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — An $11.5-billion tax cut, largest in the nation's history, is ready for the final formalities expected to put more money into the pockets of 60 million American taxpayers by mid-March. Senate and House conferees completed work on the 400-page measure Wednesday. The House is expected to pass the compromise bill next Tuesday, with a 1.00 Senate action coming either the same day or next Wednesday. Little opposition is anticipated. President Johnson is then expected to sign the bill early the following week. The first effects of the bill will come in reduced withholding of taxes in paychecks dated eight days after the measure is signed—either March 11 or 12.

19 Per Cent Average
The reductions average about 19 per cent of present individual taxes. Rates for some 550,000 corporations are also being cut. Conference agreement climaxed a solid year of concentrated work in rewriting dozens of provisions in the U.S. tax code.

House hearings began on the bill in February last year, just after the late President John F. Kennedy asked Congress for a massive tax cut to try to solve many of the nation's economic problems. Johnson followed his predecessor in putting the tax cut measure at the top of his legislative agenda along with civil rights.

Prod to Economy
The reductions are expected to give the administration to provide a stimulus aimed at boosting the 1964 economy and providing healthy long-run effects on unemployment and other problems.

Take Home Pay Gains in Tax Reduction

(x) Everyone is entitled to one exemption for himself and one for each dependent. A married couple has two, a married couple with two children four, etc.

(xx) There is no withholding at this level, under present law or the new bill.

This table reflects the difference between the new and old withholding rates. How much tax you actually will owe depends on a variety of factors and the withholding is only roughly gauged to your tax bill—it may come out right at the end of the year, or you may get a refund or have to pay a difference.

To compute the difference on wages and salaries above $200 a week, take the appropriate figure for $200 and add 4 per cent of the excess over $200.

Press Search For 14 Missing In Loss of Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—A Coast Guard cutter and planes continued searching the North Atlantic today for 14 men missing from the storm-battered British grain ship Ambassador, but their survival was considered improbable.

Twenty of the 35 crew members have been rescued. The captain died.

Flooding Stopped
The Coast Guard cutter Coos Bay radioed early today that the tugboat Elbe put men aboard the Ambassador, they stopped flooding in the ship and the tug started towing her to the Azores Islands. The Elbe had sped to the Ambassador for salvage purposes and arrived Wednesday night.

The Coos Bay and the planes continued to look for liferafts. Weather in the vicinity of the Ambassador improved considerably before dawn.

Twenty-one of the men aboard the vessel when she began to take on water and listed badly were dramatically picked up by crewmen of the cutter and the Norwegian freighter Frun. But Capt. Harry Strickland, master of the Ambassador, was dead when brought aboard the Coos Bay.

Tuesday morning, about 600 miles southeast of Halifax, N.S., the Ambassador radioed for assistance, saying its engines were dead and it was helpless in the heavy seas.

Shelter, Food and Medicine Rushed to Victims of Quakes

1,000 Persons Evacuated But 19,000 Stay on Island

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Terceira, Azores (AP) — Tents, medicine and food were rushed to homeless thousands on Sao Jorge today after a wave of earthquakes crumbled the island's main town to rubble.

An emergency evacuation that brought more than 1,000 Sao Jorge islanders to nearby Terceira was stopped Wednesday when the six-day series of quakes subsided. The other 19,000 inhabitants chose to stay on the island.

Most Buildings Razed
The American freighter Steel Director joined nine British, Norwegian, Italian and Yugoslav ships in removing dazed refugees. Two landing craft from the U.S. Air Force Base at Lajes, on Terceira's eastern shore, brought the refugees from the larger ships to shore. Most of the 1,600 buildings in the area of Velas, Sao Jorge's chief town, were reported destroyed.

The news we have is that all is desolation and ruins in that once happy sector of the island," the district governor said. Rosais Township also was reported heavily damaged.

Portugal, which rules the volcanic Azores chain 1,000 miles west of Lisbon, sent troops Sao Jorge with relief supplies. Antonio Lourerio, a refugee, said he lost count of the tremors, which began last Friday. "There must have been over 1,000 of them," he reported.

Jose Miniz Madrugada said many others got away with only the clothes they wore after the quakes wrecked their homes.

Many of the homeless assembled at Calheta, an east coast village, to await rescue. There was speculation that the seismic shocks were the result of a volcano building up on the ocean floor. All of the nine Azores islands except Santa Maria are of volcanic origin.

Action Unlikely This Session on Redistricting

Some Congressmen Believe Problem Issue for States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outside of some complaining and possibly a committee hearing for the official record, Congress isn't likely to do anything this year about the Supreme Court ruling that congressional districts should be more uniform in population.

"For one thing," a highly placed House Democrat said privately, "we just don't have time this year to deal with such a complicated subject. For another thing, most of us think it's none of our business how the states map out their districts."

Wants Uniformity
Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee long has advocated that Congress take the lead in trying to get more uniformity in congressional redistricting. He introduced a bill to do that more than a year ago but has been unable to obtain action in his own committee.

He said he would try again this year but wasn't optimistic about success.

Another proposal not expected to gain acceptance came from Texas congressmen. They are seeking legislation that supports the Supreme Court decision but preserves present districts until state legislatures can act in their regular sessions. Such a bill would prevent the 23 Texas congressmen from having to run at large this November.

A three-judge federal court at Houston has ruled the present Texas districts unconstitutional, but the decision has been stayed pending an appeal.

In New Haven, Conn., the Hartford Courant filed a suit in U.S. District Court that would force Connecticut's six congressmen to run at large this November unless the state is redistricted. The suit was filed in the name of Jack Zai-man, a political writer for the paper.

Chicago Police Find Large Money Cache 11 Policy Presses and 2 Policy Wheels Also Seized

CHICAGO (AP)—Police found a fortune in cash in the South Side home of a reputed gambling operator Wednesday night and then assigned 10 men to a marathon count that reached an estimated $750,000 by mid-morning today.

Eleven policy presses, two policy wheels, a quantity of type, five pistols, a shotgun, a rifle and two check-writing machines also were found in the home of Lawrence Wakefield, 60, who died Wednesday night in a hospital of a heart attack.

A police identified Wakefield as a policy game operator for three decades.

The windows to the house were barred and five watchdogs padded about the premises, police said.

The money, mostly $10 and $20 bills with a few $50s and $100's, was found in a bedroom.

One policeman who saw the money said he almost fainted when he opened the bedroom door.

"It was everywhere, all over the room—everywhere but on the ceiling," he exclaimed. "The money was scattered all over the place, on the floor, on the bed, in shopping bags, wrapped in rolls or loose."

The count was made by 10 policemen under the supervision of Lt. William Marschall of the Recovered Property Section. Three other policemen from the Internal Investigations Division also were observers.

The strange episode started Tuesday morning when Mrs. Rose Kennedy, 66, summoned a Village Lighting Revision Voted

Little Chute Board Gives Electric Utility Go-Ahead for Survey

LITTLE CHUTE—The village board Tuesday night approved revamping of the lighting system in the village as proposed by Kaukauna Electric and Water Utility.

No charge will be made the village for changes in the system although it was estimated monthly lighting expenses will be higher than with the old system.

Plans call for a survey to be made of the entire village to determine adequacy of lights in various areas and replacing of all lights with mercury vapor lights.

The long-range program may extend over a few years, but ultimately the entire community will be provided with improved lighting, according to the proposal. The matter of which areas are to be improved first will be left to the discretion of the power company.

Amend Ordinances
 The village amended ordinances permitting taverns to remain open on election day and to sell four quarts of liquor for consumption of the premises rather than the single quart as previously established. Both changes are in line with state statutes.

Participation in the soil testing program as proposed by the regional planning board was approved and the village will pay $90.56 as its share.

Approval was given for purchase of 150 chairs and six tables for use in the village hall and replacement of counter tops for the police department and municipal judge's office.

A sewer and water permit was granted David Locy for construction of a home in the Cloverdale plat.

Three Grants to Lawrence College Total $7,454

Three gifts from national industries have been received recently by Lawrence College.

The Union Carbide Educational Fund has contributed $5,000 for chemistry and physics.

Youngchild Hall of Science, now under construction, Gulf Oil Corp. has sent an unrestricted $1,451, and International Nickel Company, Inc. has made a similar unrestricted grant of $1,000.

The Union Carbide gift is one of ten physical science recognition grants made this year, and is a part of a broad program of support to higher education.

The Lawrence gift was one of 692 awards totalling $500,000 distributed by the Gulf Oil Corp. this year. The International Nickel program supports liberal arts institutions.

Dates Set for Home Show at Valley Fair

Knights of Pythias Invite Exhibitors For Annual Event

The seventh annual home show in the enclosed mall at Valley Fair Shopping Center will be held April 22 through 25 furnishing, repairing and decorating, they said.

Knights of Pythias lodge in co-operation with the Valley Fair Merchants Association. Dates of the show's outlets will be provided for co-chairmen. Waldemar Klein and Ralph Wendlandt of the lodge.

Official hours for the four-day show will be 1 to 9 p.m. each day. There is no admission charge.

Letters have been sent this week inviting exhibitors in past shows to reserve booth space. Show chairmen said businesses from any part of the area are invited to reserve booth space at the show for display and demonstrations of their products and services.

This is the only home show being planned this year for the Fox Cities area, the chairmen said. It will give firms the opportunity to display, demonstrate and distribute literature on their products and services.

Draper-covered booths will be erected along the mall by the Knights of Pythias. Electric lighting will be provided for the show's outlets.

The committee is planning entertainment and special attractions for the show.

Yearbook at FVL Joins National Unit

The "Cross and Crown," Fox Valley Lutheran High School student yearbook, has joined the National Scholastic Press Association, largest high school journalism organization in the nation.

The "Cross and Crown" thus joins its sister publication, the "Carrousel," FVL student newspaper, which joined the NSPA in 1961.

The main value of an NSPA membership comes after the yearbook is published, when a copy is sent to NSPA judges. Yearbooks from all over the nation are then classified according to type and size of the publication, judged on the quality of copy, photography and other specifications.

The yearbook is returned during July or August with the judges' comments inscribed in the book, along with a guidebook on yearbook journalism.

This year's "Cross and Crown" will contain 112 pages, eight pages less than last year. An expanded faculty section and a larger academic portion will be featured.

Due to increasing expenditures, the cost of the yearbook may rise to $3.50.

Ronald Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schmidt, De Pere, serves as yearbook editor. Layout editor is Maria Thoma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Thoma, Neenah. Beverly Kusserow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kusserow, New London, heads the copy section.

Gail Lander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lander, Appleton, is business and circulation manager. Sandy Coley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Coley, Appleton, serves as art editor and advertising manager, respectively.

Goldwater Jr. Will Address Green Bay Rally

GREEN BAY — Barry Goldwater Jr., eldest son of Republican presidential candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, will address a "Liberty Rally" at 8 p.m. Monday at the Elks Club. The event is co-sponsored by the Brown County Young Republicans and the Brown County Goldwater Committee.

Young Goldwater heads the National Youth for Goldwater movement in which clubs are being organized throughout the country. James Harff, Sheboygan, past national chairman of the Young Republicans, is executive chairman of the youth movement.

John Wilson, a student at Northwestern University, who has completed a recording of Goldwater "folk songs," will appear on the program.

Barry Goldwater Jr. majored in business and marketing at the universities of Colorado and Arizona, graduating in 1962. At Staunton Military Academy in Virginia, he was active in athletics and extra-curricular activities including the school newspaper and yearbook.

Barry Jr. was a high school All-American swimmer and diver, being one member of a four-man team swimming team which broke the world record in the 400-meter medley relay. He is an ardent weekend sailor and also holds a single and multi-engine pilot's license. He is currently employed by a Los Angeles stock brokerage firm.

1965 May be the Year For Crucial Decisions

With President Handcuffed by Politics
Foreign Governments Are Pushing U. S.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What's going on beneath the surface today in national as well as international affairs can make the year 1965 perhaps the most critical in this century. During the eight months before the presidential election, steps will be taken by foreign governments which could involve the United States in a series of crises that may begin America to emerge after the presidential election on Nov. 3.

Lawrence

What gives most concern at present is the behavior of the foreign governments which have deliberately construed the current election campaign in this country as giving them an opportunity to put into effect policies beneficial to themselves but harmful to the United States. Unfortunately, presidential elections occur at a fixed time under the American Constitution and cannot be postponed to a more opportune moment, as allies who have created ill feeling under the parliamentary system in the United States by increasing their trade with Red China as well as with Cuba. The strategy of the Democrats that no president is going to risk his chance for re-election to do nothing which will aggravate or "escalate" the interna-

national situation. There is a tendency in official quarters to soft-pedal what is going on behind the scenes in different parts of the world. The press is not being given all the facts about government moves on the international front or even about the happenings inside Latin America, some of which may well be more threatening than outwardly would appear. Policy-making seems to be predicated on the theory that the nation wants "peace at any price" and that this is the way to win a presidential election.

Confident that the president of the United States is virtually stalemated into a posture of inaction, foreign governments feel free to pursue their disturbing policies without fear of reprisals. This not only is true with respect to Castro in Cuba, but is related to the arrogant behavior of Panama and friction in other parts of Latin America.

Southeast Asia

So far, as southeast Asia is concerned, the position of the United States has deteriorated, and there are hints that American military forces will be withdrawn after November. This will be construed as a humiliating defeat for the American government. Were it not for the presidential election, it is conceivable that the United States would take a more forthright position not only in southeast Asia but toward her own action. Hitler also was sure that his country would not enter World War II in Europe and later persuaded Japan to attack the United States on the supposition that American would become so preoccupied with the conflict in the Pacific Ocean that it would not be able to be-tional situation. There is a tendency in official quarters to soft-pedal what is going on behind the scenes in different parts of the world. The press is not being given all the facts about government moves on the international front or even about the happenings inside Latin America, some of which may well be more threatening than outwardly would appear. Policy-making seems to be predicated on the theory that the nation wants "peace at any price" and that this is the way to win a presidential election.

Past Experience Past experience should, however, have taught a lesson. In 1916, President Wilson was re-elected on the campaign slogan "Peace and Prosperity" and drove to take over Latin America, southeast Asia and Africa within six months after the election. The United States entered World War I.

President Roosevelt campaigned for re-election in 1940 with the cry, "I hate war!" but a year after the election, the United States was plunged into World War II. In both instances, the assumption of the enemy was that the United States, for political reasons, would not enter the war. The Kaiser's government was confident of this and went on torpedoing American ships at sea in the belief that the United States would not take military action. Hitler also was sure that his country would not enter World War II in Europe and later persuaded Japan to attack the United States on the supposition that American would become so preoccupied with the conflict in the Pacific Ocean that it would not be able to be-of much assistance in fighting the war in Europe.

Grave Periods Throughout these grave periods of history, foreign governments have underestimated the resoluteness of the American people. The Communist policy at the moment is to talk about disarmament and "peaceful co-existence," but the Communist drive to take over Latin America, southeast Asia and Africa continues unabated. The United Nations is powerless to do much about it because Great Britain, France and the United States are in disagreement.

But usually these periods of apparent appeasement of a blustering enemy come to a sudden end when the latter overreaches himself and brings on a situation which simply does not permit the "peace at any price" attitude to be continued. This may produce the big crisis after the American presidential election is over. Many members of Congress believe the president would be far stronger in the world, and even with his own public opinion, if he manifested a resolute policy rather than a passive and acquiescent attitude. Certainly the eight months before the election appear to be paving the way for crucial decisions in the year 1965.

coin wrappers on a table and a bag containing a large number of bills. When he returned to headquarters, he left a memo that the home might be a gambling headquarters.

Capt. Edward Egan ordered the house kept under surveillance Tuesday and Wednesday. Wednesday night vice detectives raided the home.

Police said Mrs. Kennedy, who is white, gave permission to search the basement, where authorities found the presses and wheels. Egan said money was found in various rooms, but that Mrs. Kennedy balked when they sought to enter a back bedroom.

Police kicked down the door, however, and found a roomful of money.

Police loaded the money into 32 bags and took it to headquarters. They said the first bag, which took two hours to count, contained $50,000.

Mrs. Kennedy and Wakefield's nephew, Vernon Washington, 33, were held for questioning.

Commission Found Funds Supplied for Subversive Activity

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: OAS - CUBA: The Organization of American States meets Monday to hear an inter-American commission's findings that Cuba tried to overthrow the Venezuelan government with propaganda, arms and terror.

According to an informed source the commission found that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime:

Banned broadcasts from Radio Havana seeking to discredit the government of President Romulo Betancourt and urged Venezuelans to subversive activities.

Supplies funds for subversive actions.

Smuggled four tons of arms into Venezuela.

Drafted a plan for taking over Caracas, the capital, through an uprising.

Wallace Says He Made No Effort To See Reynolds

MADISON (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, who said he made no effort to contact Wisconsin Gov. John W. Reynolds because "I don't like to put politicians on the spot," got a lift to the airport Wednesday from Wisconsin's chief executive.

Wallace's reason for not calling on Reynolds was an obvious reference to the controversial state's rights doctrine on which Wallace had spoken during his tour in Wisconsin, Ohio, Illinois and Minnesota.

Reynolds was out of the city when Wallace arrived Tuesday, but Wednesday Reynolds drove to the downtown studio of a radio station (WISM) to meet his fellow Democrat.

"The governor probably is going to try to convert me," Wallace said as he climbed into Reynolds' car. A smiling Reynolds said, "We have a few private things to talk about."

Reynolds battled unsuccessfully in the 1963 Legislature for a fair housing bill and other measures to extend Wisconsin civil rights statutes.

More Coincidence.
SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Two sisters, who married brothers, have kept the pattern of coincidence alive. They both gave birth to sons Wednesday at a suburban Salt Lake City hospital.

Mrs. Gerald Zimmerman's son was born in the afternoon. Nine hours later, a son was born to Mrs. Stephen Zimmerman.

It would have lowered the capital gains rate to 40 per cent of the normal levy, with a 21 per cent ceiling, on profits made from sales of stock and other property held two years of the cut is effective this year.

retroactive to Jan. 1, and one-third in 1965.

For corporations, the present 52 per cent rate is reduced to 50 per cent in 1964, 48 per cent in 1965, and 46 per cent in 1966.

The wage and salary withholding will drop from the present 18 per cent level to a new 14 per cent rate.

Studebaker Changes Style Of '64 Models

They're Longer and Have Squared-Off Front, Rear Sections

A major change in automotive styling has been announced by Studebaker Corporation with the showing of its 1964 models.

For the first time since 1959, Studebaker has made a complete turnabout in styling, but still retains a hint of styling barrel carburetors, is available as an option on Wildcat and Electra 225 models. This same engine, with two four-barrel carburetors, is optional on the Riviera. A high-output camshaft is combined with the multiple carburetors.

Some of the more salient styling features of the new models are:

Special series . . . longer, wider, roomier. Front bumper completely wraps around. Curved glass in the side windows integrates the lower body with the upper. Frame construction and added size improves ride and roadability. Added height gives easier access, more comfort.

Skylark . . . four-door sedan added to lineup of convertible and two-door coupe. Frameless glass windows like the Riviera in the Skylark coupe . . . vent ports become integral part of side molding. New die-cast ed-off front and rear sections. An indented "catwalk" on each side of the lengthened hood is repeated in the rear deck styling and the flattened elegance of the new roof line flows rearward to a steeply angled rear window. This rear window area is strongly marked by a double-bevel in metal sculpture, with all lines clean and knife-edged, leading to the nearly flat back glass area.

LeSabre Features
LeSabre . . . wider, lower front appearance. New wrap-around bumper. New die-cast grille. Headlamps moved outward. New front fenders and hood. Horizontal tail lamps extend from back panel into rear quarters.

Wildcat . . . Exclusive new appearance. Ventiports are of standard on Riviera and Electra models and optional on the Wildcat and LeSabre series. The Super Turbine 300 will be available as optional equipment on all models in the Special series, and also on all LeSabre models except the Estate Wagon.

Electra 225 . . . distinctive grille treatment gives clean, light restyled. New vent ports mounted flat against fender. Vertical tail lights are integral parts of the rear fenders. Fender skirts enclosing the rear wheels coupled with full length moulding give the Electra a longer, lower appearance.

Optional Engines
The 425-cubic-inch engine, with either one or two four-two forward speed ratios. In addition it has Buick's famed "Switch the Pitch" feature which increases torque multiplication for added performance in passing.

Better Economy
The new ST 300 transmission for the Special backs up new engines. The V-6 is up from 196 cubic-inch displacement to 225, with new features designed for better performance, economy and reliability.

The 300-cubic-inch aluminum V-8 engine combines the best features of last year's engine into the new powerplant. This engine is standard on the LeSabre and improves gasoline mileage as much as 16 per cent.

By using a cast-iron block, Buick engineers were able to increase the aluminum V-8 engine's displacement to 300 cubic inches without increasing block size. And through the use of aluminum cylinder heads, water-pump covers, intake man-ifold and many other parts, the advantage of light weight was retained. Optional on the Special and LeSabre series is the same V-8 engine with a four-barrel carburetor. For the first time, dual exhausts are available as an option on all Special V-8 models, except Estate Wagon.

In addition to an improvement in performance and economy, coupled with smoothness of operation, the new transmissions are great weight savers due to extensive use of aluminum.

The Super Turbine 300 has Buick's Wildcat for 1964 takes on a new appearance with complete restyling of the front, sides and rear. The new grille — outlined by a stout chrome frame — features a floating center bar which carries the Tri Shield emblem. The side view is dominated by new moulding extending from the front wheels to the rear bumper. Ventiports are of a new design and are placed one above the other. The exclusive Wildcat chrome plated spoke wheels shown here are optional. In addition to the two-door hardtop, the Wildcat comes in a new four-door sedan, four-door hardtop and convertible. Buck's new Super Turbine 400 torque converter transmission, or a four-speed manual transmission are optional on the Wildcat, along with a 425 cubic inch engine equipped with two four-barrel carburetors.

Transmission Hikes Buick Wheel Thrust

FLINT, Mich. — Buick offers a lineup of LeSabre, Wildcat and 1964 lineup of 26 models that features two new super turbine transmissions providing up to 43 per cent more wheel thrust, along with three new engines and a host of styling changes that includes an all-new roomier Special series.

Here are some of the major highlights:
Two new super turbine transmissions that improve performance and gasoline mileage. Both transmissions are lighter in weight and have fewer working parts.
A new V-6 engine with greater cubic displacement that provides better performance for the larger Special in which it is standard equipment.

New V-8 Engine
A compact new light-weight aluminum V-8 engine with a cast-iron block and 300-cubic-inch displacement that is the lightest weight V-8 on the market.

A high-performance engine with two four-barrel carburetors, 10.25 to 1 compression ratio and 425-cubic-inch displacement.

An entirely new Special due to extensive use of aluminum using a frame for the first time, with three inches more wheelbase and 11½ inches additional length.

A completely restyled

Stylized Chevron Side Trim on quarter panel of roof sets off Studebaker's top-line car for 1964, the elegant Cruiser. Side mouldings also differ from other cars in line and interior appointments accent luxury. Cruiser is built only in this four door sedan model, and is equipped with a 289 V-8 engine as standard.

continuity in its new cars. This year, across the entire basic line of 13 different body models in six different series, the cars have a crisp and smartly tailored appearance.

Most apparent sheet metal changes are in sweeping new expanses of sculptured metal on the hoods, deck lids and roofs of the '64 cars. Fender lines too are longer and sweep in both directions toward sharply squared-off front and rear sections. On all cars, headlamp areas are recessed and shrouded by side of the lengthened hood is brightwork giving a continuous, repeated in the rear deck styling and the flattened elegance of the new roof line flows rearward to a steeply angled rear window. This rear window area is strongly marked by a double-bevel in metal sculpture, with all lines clean and knife-edged, leading to the nearly flat back glass area.

They're Longer
The cars have lost all trace of the "compact" appearance they once bore and for 1964 Studebaker cars are almost six inches longer than they were in 1963.

Certainly, the boldest, strongest single feature of the 1964 car is the completely new idea expressed in grille styling. Width of the entire vehicle now stands at 72 inches and the grille design with its strong horizontal treatment makes it appear much wider. The entire front of the car has wears its tail-lamps in a horizontal mounting as the outboard edges of the deck area, giving a feeling of sweep to the rear similar to that provided by the new grille.

All-new discs of turbine design cap the wheels and the interiors of the new Studebakers are subtly changed for 1964.

Inside, all instruments (Studebaker continues to provide full instrumentation in every model) are placed against a flat back background for easier, quicker reading. Every dashboard switch is the super-safety rocker panel type and dash panels of even the lowest priced models continue to be fully padded for safety's sake — only car in the U.S. industry to offer this feature.

Some Things Unchanged
Two things did not change on Studebaker cars for 1964 — items which have long been trademarks of comfort and convenience for Studebaker owners. The cars still have ample headroom in all models and the floors remain the same flat planes which have been widely praised by automotive experts. Seats are also designed on the "chairhigh" theme.

Vision remains excellent in the '64 Studebakers with widely spaced and slender windshield pillars plus a full-width rear windshield.

Clean, Uncluttered Lines on New Dodge

Fresh styling, engineering refinement and quality-first manufacturing techniques distinguish the standard-size Dodge for 1964.

The styling of the '64 Dodge is new, clean and uncluttered. The lines are graceful but forceful. The front is keynoted by a massive wrap-around bumper and a convex, bright-aluminum grille of thin, vertical bars.

A new windshield provides better visibility, and two-door hardtop models feature a "semi-fastback" roofline. Larger front door openings make it easier for passengers to get in and out.

Styling at the rear accents the width and stability of the car. A two-inch wider rear-wheel track — the distance between wheels — gives the Dodge a stronger, more-powerful appearance.

The 22 models in the standard-size line are in three series: the low-price 330, the middle-line 440 and the deluxe Polara.

The 1964 model line-up includes a wide variety of sedans, hardtops, station wagons and convertibles. Polara 500 sports packages are available on the Polara two-door hardtop and convertible.

The sports packages feature bucket seats, a center console and luxurious all-vinyl interiors. Selector levers for either the four-speed manual or the three-speed automatic transmission are placed in the console, which also houses a storage compartment. A console-mounted, transistorized, electrical tachometer is optional.

Dual Tail Lights
Dual tail lights are featured in the 330 and 440 series. The Polara models have triple lights, with the back-up lights in the center.

Fourteen different exterior colors and 16 subtle two-tone combinations are offered. Interiors are luxurious in appointment and practical in instrumentation and control. New vinyls and fine fabrics are combined to provide both beauty and durability. The instrument panels are two-tone, with a suede, anti-reflection paint on top and a glossy paint below.

Buyers of the 1964 Dodge have a choice of six engines. The six-cylinder powerplant has a displacement of 225 cubic inches and a higher compression ratio (8.4 to 1), which improves fuel economy.

rel carburetion; a new 426-cubic-inch V-8 with a four-barrel carburetor; and the nationally known Ramcharger 426 with dual four-barrel carburetors.

The horsepower of the six engines ranges from 145 to 425.

Three Transmissions
The 1964 Dodge also offers a choice of three transmissions: a three-speed manual, a four-speed manual and the three-speed TorqueFlight automatic transmission.

The four-speed is a new transmission built by Chrysler Corporation. This sturdy unit has a 3 1/2-inch distance between main and counter shafts to accommodate a higher input of driver-convenience items. A new mirror is located on the door to provide a maximum rear-view image.

All forward gears are fully synchronized.

Other chassis innovations include: larger batteries, a new design for the automatic choke, more splash shields for better protection against corrosion, better wiring insulation, improved closed-in crankcase ventilation, a new full-flow oil filter for automatic transmissions and many other clutch, transmission and axle refinements.

Stronger Door Latch
The Dodge for '64 also features a variety of safety and driver-convenience items. A new mirror is located on the door to provide a maximum rear-view image.

anisms. An electric windshield washer, operated by a pushbutton in the wiper control knob, provides immediate and effective cleaning under severe driving conditions.

Windshield Change Modifies Silhouette, Increases Headroom

Performance and quality, the two dominant themes in Plymouth's success in 1963, are further enhanced in the 1964 line.

Plymouth for 1964 has increased head room, improved driver vision, and an increased over-all length of 1-1/2 inches.

Although their over-all width is unchanged at 75-1/2 inches, the new models give the impression of greater width because of new horizontal styling themes, front and rear.

Engine options include a new 426 cubic inch V-8 for high performance enthusiasts. Suitable for street use, it is a modified version of the Super Stock 426 at championship.

Other improvements include an additional underhood splash shield, a new automatic choke four-barrel Commando engines design, a new spark plug cable, has been changed to provide assembly and other refinements faster response at high road in the engines, transmissions speeds. The secondary barrels and differential, as well as in come into play earlier, allowing the engine to develop maximum power prior to the transmission shifting into passing gear.

Volkswagen Sunroof Now Made of Metal

Also Retracts Into
Half-Ring Changed

Again this year Volkswagen has held to its philosophy of "change for improvement only."

The biggest external difference in the sedan is the conversion of the fabric sunroof to a metal one that retracts into the roof. It is crank-operated and provides a smooth, flush roofline, which insures easy operation even at highway speeds.

On the inside, a new horn bar on the spokes of the deep dish steering wheel replaces the half-ring previously used. Corduroy patterned leatherette is available on the seats to provide greater hot-weather comfort and, like the headliners, the material is washable and soil resistant.

Still standard equipment on all Volkswagen passenger cars are heaters and windshield washers.

The station wagons and trucks have had minor external changes too, in the form of a larger rear door and greater visibility with a newly designed rear window that is more than double the earlier size.

An option now available on multi-job panel trucks are sliding doors for ease of loading in close quarters, providing an opening of 41.9" by 47.2".

BSA Operates World's Largest Boys' Camp

CIMARRON, N.M. (AP)—The world's largest boys' camp is operated by the Boy Scouts of America near Cimarron, N.M.

It includes 137,000 acres of range and mountain land, providing summer adventure for older Scouts and Explorers. Its name is Philmont Scout Ranch.

In addition to training for Boy Scouts, and training for volunteer leaders, Philmont is a working ranch said to have the largest remuda of saddle horses in New Mexico. Herds of buffalo graze on its range lands along with Hereford beef cattle.

Most Visible Change on Any 1964 Volkswagen sedan is on the sunroof model where a sliding steel roof panel has replaced the earlier plastic fabric type which folded back in accordion fashion. A hand-operated crank opens the new sunroof easily, even when traveling at highway speed. When closed, the retractable panel fits flush with the rest of the roof.

Oldsmobile Introduces New Series, Better F-85

A brand new Oldsmobile full-size series—the Jetstar 88, and a totally new and better F-85 are featured in Oldsmobile's 1964 lineup.

Styling and performance changes also have been designed into the Jetstar I, Dynamic and Super 88's, and Starfire models.

Oldsmobile's entry in the low price field, the F-85, is all-new, styled for more beauty, with greater interior measurements for maximum utility, and powered by a brand new engine for more performance.

The F-85's, with independent body and frame construction, are available in standard and deluxe sedans, coupes and station wagons. There also are a Cutlass convertible, a Cutlass Sports coupe and a Cutlass Holiday coupe. Bucket seats are standard in the V-6 sports coupe, the Cutlass Holiday coupe and the Cutlass convertible.

For Younger Families The new Jetstar 88's lower-priced companions to the Dynamic and Super 88's, are de-equipped with four-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts and a compression ratio of 10.5 to 1.

The 394-cubic inch Rocket engines are also standard on all Dynamic and Super 88's and 98's. For the Dynamic 88's, a 280-horsepower Rocket using premium fuel is standard, with a 260-horsepower regular fuel version available at no extra cost. A 330-horsepower Rocket powers Super 88's and 98's.

The newest Oldsmobile Rocket engine, the Jeffire Rocket V-8, powers all Jetstar 88's and is available on the new F-85's. This 330-cubic inch member of the Rocket engine family embodies an inverted "A" cylinder block construction and integrated manifold and engine cover for a new standard of quietness of operation.

Built for Economy For buyers primarily interested in fuel economy and low price, Oldsmobile offers a new 155-horsepower V-6 engine. New standards of smoothness and quietness have been achieved in this 235-cubic inch engine.

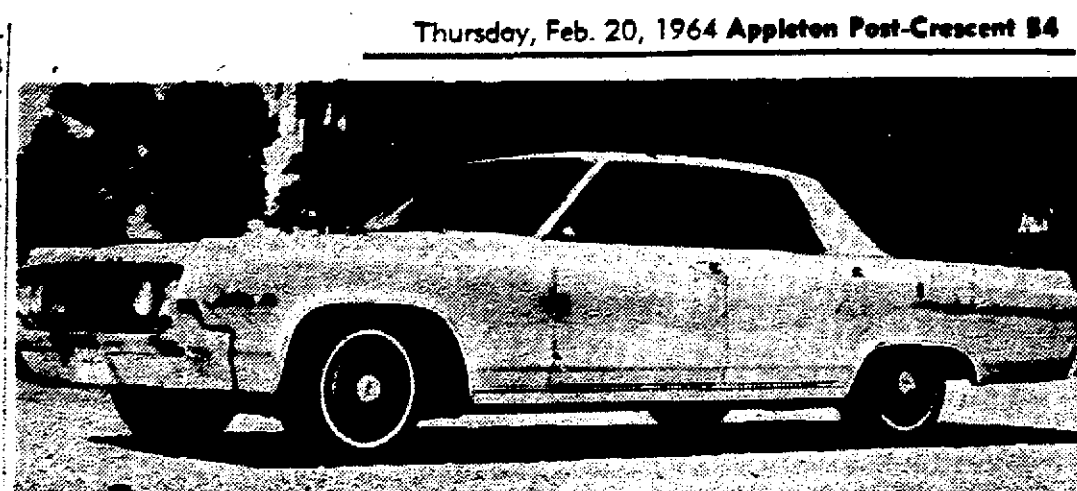

Oldsmobile is offering a wide variety of transmissions to suit individual needs of the customer. A completely new automatic, Jetaway, is available on all F-85's and Jetstar 88's. Consisting of an automatic gear shift coupled with a variable-vane torque converter to automatically increase torque output whenever it is needed, Jetaway is immediately responsive to every driver command.

Hydra-Matic Drive

Oldsmobile's famous Hydra-Matic drive is designed specifically for use with the 394-cubic inch Rocket engines. A three-speed manual transmission is standard on all F-85's, 88's and Jetstar I, and a new four-speed fully synchronized transmission is offered at extra cost on F-85's and Jetstar 88's.

Mechanical improvements in all models include a newly-developed air-mix heater which permits inside temperatures to be more precisely regulated and more uniformly maintained at all driving speeds.

This Oldsmobile Jetstar 88 Holiday Sedan is part of a new series for 1964. It is built for younger families who need a full-sized car and is powered by a Jeffire Rocket engine.

How much longer can we hand you this line?

Forever, we hope. Because nobody ever intends to change the Volkswagen's shape. The only reason the Volkswagen is ever changed is to make it work even better. The money that isn't spent on outside changes is spent inside the car. This system provides an immense advan-lage: Time. Years of it. There's time to improve parts and still keep most of them interchangeable. (Which is why it's so easy to get VW parts, and why our mechanics don't wake up screaming.) There's time to put an immense amount of hand work into each VW, and to finish each one like a $6,000 machine. And this system has also kept the price of the Volkswagen almost the same over the years. Some cars keep changing and stay the same. Volkswagens stay the same and keep changing.

The 1964 Dart Offers greater comfort, convenience, durability and safety. It is built on a 111-inch wheelbase and is offered in nine models including two convertibles. For the sports-minded buyer, the new Dart has four-speed manual transmission.

Longer Lines Feature of Dart for 1964

Engine Performance Improved by New Choke Modulator

DETROIT — The Dodge 1964 Dart, a new family-size compact offers greater comfort, convenience, durability and safety. It also features a new look in styling and significant improvements in engine performance.

Built on a 111-inch wheelbase, it is offered in nine models, including two convertibles and two station wagons. It is one of three separate Dodge lines, the others being the standard-size Dodge and the medium-price Dodge 660.

Style Changes A major styling change for the Dart is a new, broad grille composed of fine, vertical lines. A rectangular bar across the face of the grille displays the Dodge name in block letters.

A simulated air scoop on the hood is outlined in chrome, and distinctive new molding along the sides appears to give the car added length.

The rear window has been increased a full three inches in width, providing more attractive styling and better rear vision for the driver.

An increase in compression ratios has improved the efficiency of the Dart's 170- and 225-cubic-inch, six-cylinder engines. Both operate economically on regular grades of gasoline.

Easier to Start A new automatic choke modulator and insulation refinements in the ignition cable assembly improve starting reliability, particularly in very wet or extremely cold weather.

A feature available for the first time in the 1964 Dart is Dodge's new four-speed manual transmission. The floor-mounted shift has particular appeal to sports-minded compact car buyers. The transmission gears are fully synchronized in all forward speeds.

Another new option is the Sure-Grip differential, which minimizes wheel spin and provides more positive traction under adverse road conditions.

Other new features and improvements include:

Stronger and more reliable door latches, redesigned floor anchors for seat belts, an electrical windshield washer with pushbutton control in the center of the wiper knob, remote-control outside rearview mirror, more effective sealing of windows, a tailgate window safety device for station wagons and improved sealing of convertible tops.

New Oil Filter

The Dart, one of the few compacts offering a three-speed automatic transmission, also has a new, full-flow transmission oil filter which will help increase the life and reliability of the transmission.

Putting emphasis on simplicity, Dodge engineers have upgraded the Dart's interiors, both in styling and durability.

The new instrument panel design is functional and uncluttered. The upper surface of the panel has a mar-proof, suede-finish paint that reduces windshield glare. A full-length, color-keyed safety pad is standard on the Dart GT and optional on other models.

For driver convenience, heater control knobs have been relocated high on the center face of the panel, within easy reach.

Fabrics are 100 per cent nylon warp for strength and durability. There are five interior colors — red, tan, blue, gold and black — for the GT and four for the 270 and 170 models.

The Dart's trunk capacity remains one of the biggest in the compact field — equalling and in some cases exceeding that of larger cars.

Alert to the consumer's desire for personalized transportation, Dodge offers nine Dart models in three series: a two-door sedan, four-door sedan and six-door station wagon in the low-price 170 Series; a two-door and four-door sedan, convertible and six-passenger wagon in the 270 Series; and a two-door hardtop and convertible in the deluxe GT Series.

Economy and Reliability Are Valiant Marks

1964 Models Built Upon Sales Record Set Last Year

Building upon a world-wide record of sales success in 1963, Valiant moves into the 1964 model year with design changes giving emphasis to further gains in economy of operation and reliability.

"We have improved upon the qualities that have made Valiant an outstanding success in every country in the world where it has been offered," said C. E. Briggs, vice president of Chrysler Motors Corporation and general manager, Chrysler-Plymouth Division.

"Wherever it is marketed it is being regarded as the industry's best all-around compact," Mr. Briggs said.

The front end of the 1964 model is extensively changed. The bumper is wider and is mounted in high to provide superior protection to the grille. The grille has a new horizontal design extending the full width between headlights.

In the rear, the most noticeable change is in the tail lights which are vertical in shape and follow the contour of the rear quarter panels.

Nine Models Offered

The 1964 Valiant line consists of nine models in five body styles—2-door sedan, 2-door hardtop, 4-door sedan, convertible coupe and 4-door station wagon. In the deluxe Signet series, an attractive new sporty-looking vinyl roof is available as an option on the two-door hardtop.

Mechanical features include higher compression for both the economy on regular grade fuel standard 170 cubic inch 101 horsepower engine and the 225 cubic inch 145 horsepower engine plus improvements in fuel economy and ignition systems.

New features, available for the first time in the Valiant line, include a Chrysler Corporation engineered fully synchronized, floor-mounted 4-speed manual shift transmission; a Sure-Grip differential to minimize rear wheel spinning on slippery surfaces, and a push button electric windshield washer.

The Valiant Signet Two-Door Hardtop is one of nine attractive models in the 1964 Valiant line. Car shown here has a vinyl covered roof, one of many new options available in the Valiant offering. All Valiant cars are covered by Chrysler Corporation's 5-year or 50,000-mile warranty on engine and drive train components.

Other improvements are new stronger and safer door locks, relocated and redesigned seat belt anchors to provide an unobstructed rear floor area, an improved air conditioning system with a narrower, more efficient cooling unit, an improved closed crankcase ventilation system requiring less maintenance, an improved fuel tank offering greater protection from stone damage, a new lifetime oil filter in the automatic transmission and an improved three-speed manual transmission providing superior second gear operation and greater durability.

Warranty Continued

The 5-year or 50 thousand-mile warranty on the engine and drive train components introduced on 1963 models is continued for 1964. Higher compression ratios for both the standard and the optional engines provide improved economy on regular grade fuel. Valiant engines have a new, diaphragm-type automatic choke. The vacuum-operated diaphragm is enclosed in a self-contained unit mounted alongside the carburetor body. Its function is to assist in opening the choke blade after the engine has started. Since it has no sliding parts, the need for maintenance is eliminated. The diaphragm action offers no resistance to the closing action of the automatic choke spring in returning the choke blade to starting position after the engine has been stopped and allowed to cool.

Crankcase Ventilation

A new, improved, self-cleaning crankcase ventilator valve is used in the cylinder head cover that requires less maintenance. The spark plug cables are made with a special grade neoprene insulation for long service and protection from underhood temperature.

The terminal on each ignition cable is new and has two major improvements. The end that receives the cable is 50 per cent longer and its inner surface is lined with a series of ridges that, once applied, seize the cable jacket in a permanent, vise-like grip.

The other end of the terminal is equipped with a new additional spring clip with a detent for a more positive hold upon the spark plug terminal. Longer, more protective spark plug covers provide increased insulation against moisture infiltration by extending a greater distance in both directions from the spark plug terminal.

New 4-Speed Gear Box

A new Chrysler-engineered four-speed manual transmission with Hurst gear shift linkage is optional for all Valiant cars.

Two New Series In Mercury's Line This Year

Luxurious Park Lane, Montclair to Have Softer Rubber Mounts

The 1964 Mercury extends its coverage of the medium-priced market by offering two new series and a choice of distinctive roof designs.

Mercury's two new series are the luxurious top-of-the-line Park Lane and the Montclair, which is placed between the basic Monterey and the Park Lane. A new four-door fastback hardtop Marauder model is offered in all three series, and a Commuter four-door station wagon is added as a running mate to the highly styled Colony Park.

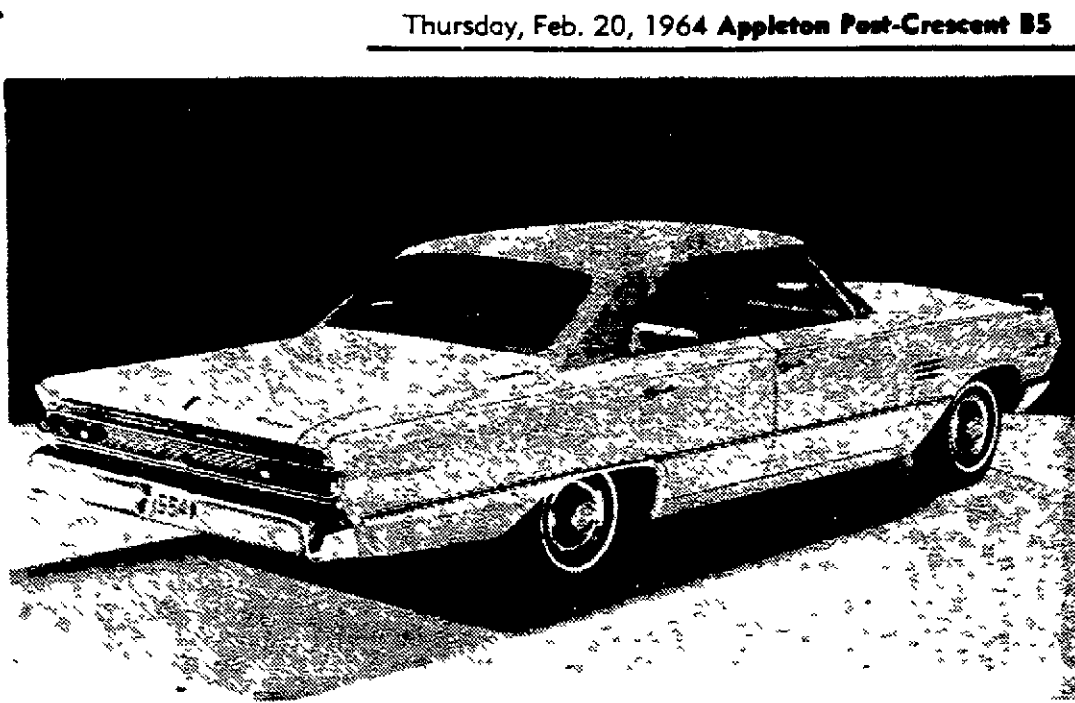

In addition to the new four-door Marauder, Mercury will offer in all three series the unique Breezeway roof with retracting rear window and the sporty two-door fastback hardtop Marauder first introduced last spring.

The two-door Marauder has represented the Mercury in stock car auto races and set a new record in winning the Pike's Peak Auto Hill Climb on July 4.

Winter Feature

The exclusive Breezeway design, introduced last year, offers several functional advantages in addition to distinctive appearance. In winter, the overhang keeps the rear window free of ice, snow and rain. In summer, it shades rear-seat passengers, sign bucket seats with full center console are optional in the Park Lane series.

Restyling of the Mercury grille, front fenders, bumpers, side trim and rear makes the 1964 models appear larger and racier. Interiors are roomier with a deeper body which provides more seating comfort, more usable luggage space, and easier entrance and exit. Luxurious interior trim and new instrument panel ornamentation typify Mercury's big-car appointments. The 1964 Mercury's six V-8 engines — two more than last year — range from 250 to 425 horsepower.

The 1964 Comet, pioneer of the luxury compacts, undergoes its first complete change since 1960. This Caliente hardtop is one of three models in a plush new top-of-the-line series. The completely redesigned Comet has all new sheet metal, improved ride and handling characteristics, and greater passenger room. New standards of performance are attained with a new three-speed automatic transmission and a broad range of four engines, including a new 289 cubic-inch V-8 and a new 200 cubic-inch six. The 1964 Comet offers ten models in three new series designations — Comet 202, Comet 404 — and Comet Caliente.

Complete Change Is Reported by Comet

The 1964 Comet, pioneer of the luxury compacts, has undergone its first complete change since introduction four years ago. The completely redesigned Comet, including a plush new Caliente series, has all-new exterior sheet metal, improved ride and handling characteristics, and greater passenger room.

The new Comet is roomier, even though wheelbase is continued at 114 inches and over-all length and height are virtually unchanged. Over-all width is increased one inch, and the rear tread is increased 1.5 inches, providing new sturdiness on the road.

Forward Thrust

The Comet's sculptured hood, set between raised fenders, emphasizes its wide appearance. A double conclave sculpture follows the fender line, widens toward the rear, making the car seem longer and, with the front fenders extended beyond the grille, gives the car an appearance of forward thrust.

Improvements in driving posture, leg room and head room in the front compartment are provided by increasing seat travel one inch, shortening the length of the steering column, and introducing a new steering wheel with a one-inch smaller diameter.

Rear-seat leg room and knee room are improved substantially by moving the rear seat backward 1.4 inches.

Luxurious Interiors

The interiors of all models are more luxurious, while the new top-of-the-line Caliente series features interior treatment rivaling that of the most expensive cars. The Caliente's rigidity, and larger 14-inch wheels standard. New torque boxes front and rear which absorb body twist give the Comet a ride comparable to larger cars. The 1964 Comet is offered in 10 models in three new series designations — the Comet 202, Comet 404, and Comet Caliente. Bucket seats with console are optional in the Caliente models and without console in the 404 two-door sedan model. Two- and four-door sedans and four-door station wagons are offered in the 202 and 404 series. A two-door hardtop, convertible, and four-door sedan are offered in the Caliente series. A four-door Vil-lager station wagon with simulated wood grain side trim is offered also.

Diplomats Seeking Cyprus Peace Plan

British Flying 2,000 More Troops to Embattled Isle And Security Council Idle

BY A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomats negotiated privately today on proposals to keep the peace in Cyprus as Britain began flying nearly 2,000 more troops to the eastern Mediterranean island.

Security Council debate on the Cyprus crisis was in recess until Friday afternoon, and there were no sure prospects for agreement on proposals for an international force to take over enforcement of the shaky cease-fire between the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities.

Seeks Endorsements

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson called on the council Wednesday to endorse a Western proposal to bolster the British troops on Cyprus with soldiers from other nations.

Seeking to avoid Soviet intrusion into the dispute, Stevenson pointedly added that composition of the force would require the approval of Cyprus and her three guarantors under the 1960 independence treaties — Britain, Turkey and Greece.

Stevenson also urged the council to call on Cyprus and her three protectors to designate U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant as an impartial mediator.

Followed Russian

The U.S. delegate spoke after Chief Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko charged the 1960 treaties had been imposed on Cyprus and denounced the British force as a Western plot to establish a North Atlantic Treaty Organization bridgehead in the eastern Mediterranean.

Backing the Greek Cypriot government of President Makarios, Fedorenko demanded that the council first give guarantees for Cyprus' territorial integrity and against aggression.

The Greek Cypriots demand council guarantees. They fear the Western powers will support Turkish Cypriots demands for partition of the island, and that Turkey will invade to aid the Turkish Cypriots, outnumbered 4 to 1 in a population of nearly 600,000.

Accuses NATO

Fedorenko accused the Atlantic alliance powers of doing everything possible to keep the issue from coming before the council and said the presence of British, Greek and Turkish troops violates Cypriot sovereignty.

Instructed Defeat

"Mrs. Cherkasky was defeated on instructions from Reynolds," Hanson said in an interview. He also said results from the nine district caucuses held so far show that his side has won nomination of more delegate candidates than the Reynolds-Lucey forces. He added:

"The forces in the party who want a machine type operation and want you to jump when they say 'jump' have elected a lesser number of candidates than those who believe in democracy with a small 'd'."

Hanson also said he expects to increase his margin of delegate support in the final caucus, in the 10th District, which is his own. The caucus is set for Sunday.

Grave Injustice
In referring to the defeat of Mrs. Cherkasky, Hanson said the governor "went out of his way to make it extremely difficult to reach a rapprochement between the personalities in our party. Her defeat could only be described as a grave injustice to a fine lady and Democrat who has worked for the party for 14 years."

Hanson said the governor's opposition to Mrs. Cherkasky was "hard to understand" because she had backed Lucey in 1961 when Assemblyman Frank Nikolay of Abbottsford ran for the party chairmanship at the urging of Nelson, who was then governor. The contest never came to a showdown because Nikolay was forced to withdraw when called to military service. The 8th District caucus was held in Green Bay, Reynolds' hometown, and four national convention delegate candidates aligned with the governor were nominated.

Churchill Appears at House of Commons

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, due to retire from political life this year, turned up at the House of Commons Wednesday night and joined in ushering through a piece of routine legislation.

Churchill, 89, has made frequent appearances lately as his long parliamentary career nears an end. A national election is due this year and Sir Winston has said that he will not be a candidate.

Barry Predicts Primary Win in New Hampshire

Calculates 35 Per Cent of Votes Will Take the Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edging out on a limb, Sen. Barry Goldwater predicts he will win close to 50 per cent of the vote in New Hampshire's primary and start his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination snowballing.

"If we can come out of New Hampshire with a decided victory," he told supporters in Rumney, N. H., Wednesday, "you have no idea what this is going to do for my candidacy over the rest of the United States."

March Primary

The Arizona senator calculated that any candidate who captures 35 per cent of the vote in the March 10 primary and takes seven of the convention delegates would have "a definitive victory."

He voiced belief that he would run up almost 50 per cent. Also campaigning through New Hampshire's snowy countryside Wednesday and today was one of Goldwater's chief rivals for the GOP nomination, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Although the two haven't crossed paths so far in the Granite State, both are joined in whaling away at President Johnson's foreign policy.

"I think most Americans are a little sick today to think of the way the United States is being slapped around," is the way the Arizona put it.

The New York governor said, "The American people are recognizing this dismal record and its frightening portent for the future for what it is—a formula for failure."

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith replied that his country had intervened at the invitation of the Cyprus government and that plans to return to New Hampshire's campaign trail this weekend.

Conduct Code for State Civil Service Workers Revised, Moderated

Public Hearing March 11 To Eliminate Objections

MADISON (AP) — A revised code of conduct for state Civil Service employees has been prepared by the chairman of the State Board of Personnel and will be the subject of a March 11 public hearing, it was announced Wednesday.

The code, prepared by John Shields, revises one made at the request of Gov. John W. Reynolds. The new code takes a more moderate approach to stock holdings by state employees than the original.

Set Rules

The revision was prepared in rule form and was written to meet state employee objections to the "generalities" in the code prepared by University of Wisconsin Prof. James McCamy. In announcing his code, Reynolds said that it appeared that 33 state employees would be in violation of the rules if they were in force.

Reynolds said the details on individual investments were based on information he asked for after forcing the resignation of Roman Winkowski as savings

In Tax Cut Passage

Byrnes Warns of Inflation Dangers

BY FRANCES McKUSICK

WASHINGTON — Passage of the huge tax cut conference report could bring on "a devastating inflation" if Congress and the administration do not live up to their pledges of a disciplined control over federal expenditures," Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, declared today.

The Congressman made this prediction after the tax measure was reported out of committee by Senate and House conferees, of which Byrnes was ranking Republican on the House side.

Describing the conference report as a "reasonable adjustment of Senate and House differences," Byrnes added however, that it "retains the major defects of both."

Adds to Complexities

Largely, according to the congressman, the report "adds 300 pages of complexities to a tax code that needs reform, and fails to make a real attack on the extreme progressivity of the tax rates."

Although Byrnes believes the tax reduction in the bill "is spread unevenly, and in some cases, inequitably," he said the measure "represents a major advance toward freeing the economy from the heavy hand of the tax collector," and would vote for it.

"A cut of the magnitude in the bill would have been highly dangerous under the spending philosophy which prevailed from 1961 to 1963," Byrnes said. "The $6 billion cut in appropriations made by Congress last year and the spending budget of $97.3 billion proposed by President Johnson for the coming fiscal year, if carried through, reduce

Johnson Flying to Visit With Mexican President Mateos

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson flies to Southern California tonight for goodwill talks with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico and a brief meeting with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

No major problems were in sight for the Johnson-Lopez Mateos conference and one Mexican official predicted, "It's going to be a happy visit."

The two Presidents will confer Friday and Saturday at Palm Springs, Calif., sandwiching in some speechmaking and ceremonial appearances in Los Angeles both days.

substantially the risk involved in this bill.

"The risk is still present, however," Byrnes continued. "We are experimenting when we pass a large tax cut during a time of general economic expansion and at a time when we are still incurring large federal deficits. We can bring on a devastating inflation if we pass this bill and if we then fail to use common sense in monetary policy."

Stressing that the tax cut "imposes responsibilities upon all of us," the Green Bay congressman, who is chairman of the House GOP Policy Committee, expressed the confidence that he would be joined by all other Republicans in accepting the responsibility to exercise restraint and prudence in order to avoid inflation, the cruellest tax of all.

Union Wants Poverty War Energized

AFL-CIO Spokesman Says Idea Favored And Action Wanted

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council drafted resolutions today calling on President Johnson to step up his war on poverty in general and on unemployment in particular.

Federal measures to reduce the nation's 4.6-million jobless total are "the key factor in the whole fight against poverty," said a spokesman for the council, which sets policy for AFL-CIO unions and their 13.5 million members.

"We are in favor of the idea of the war on poverty," the spokesman said, "and we want to see some action. It is not enough just to say this. There has got to be some legislative action."

Proposals Listed

He said demands the AFL-CIO will make on Johnson and Congress include:

1. An accelerated public works program "translated into immediate jobs."
2. An increase in the minimum wage, now $1.25 an hour, to $2 and expanding its coverage to millions of workers.
3. A shorter work week, with double pay to discourage overtime and spread employment.

Johnson already has proposed double pay for overtime in some industries and expanding minimum wage coverage but he has not acceded to labor demands to cut the work week to 35 hours. Labor considers this the essential measure to reduce unemployment.

Station Attendant Dies of Injuries

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Filing station attendant Richard Breinling, 26, died in a hospital Wednesday of injuries received Sunday when a jack slipped while he was changing a tire and a fender struck him in the chest. A hospital examination indicated his injuries were only superficial and he was released. Chest pains forced his return to the hospital Tuesday, when serious internal injuries were found.

FBI Agents To Testify in Sinatra Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — FBI agents were listed as followup witnesses today to Wednesday's testimony by Frank Sinatra Sr. at the trial of three men accused of kidnaping the singer's son.

The FBI men were expected to describe the manner in which they recorded a series of telephone calls that Sinatra said led to the ransom of his 20-year-old son.

Frank Jr., abducted Dec. 8 at a Lak Tahoe, Nev., motel, was released unharmed near his mother's home in the Bel-Air district of Los Angeles 56 hours later.

Sinatra, 48, denied Wednesday that the kidnaping was a hoax or a publicity stunt.

He offered details on a series of eight telephone calls — all from the same man — which he said resulted in his paying $240,000 in ransom.

Fourth ROK Civilian Slain by U. S. Sentry

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The U.S. Army reported today a fourth South Korean civilian has been killed this month by an American sentry.

Seat Belts Are Credited With Cutting Injuries

Some '64 Cars Will Warn When Belts Aren't Being Used

Seat belts properly fastened are credited by safety experts and traffic officials with significantly reducing the number and severity of injuries in automobile accidents.

For example, this statement by Fletcher N. Platt, traffic safety manager for the Ford Motor Co.

"Research of auto crash injuries conducted or sponsored by Ford has shown that seat belts help protect automobile passengers in both major and minor accidents."

Reports of rural personal injury accidents in Wisconsin from July, 1961, to June, 1963, showed that seat belts were installed in 19.1 per cent of all cars reported. However, they were used by only 31.7 per cent of the drivers and passengers who had belts available.

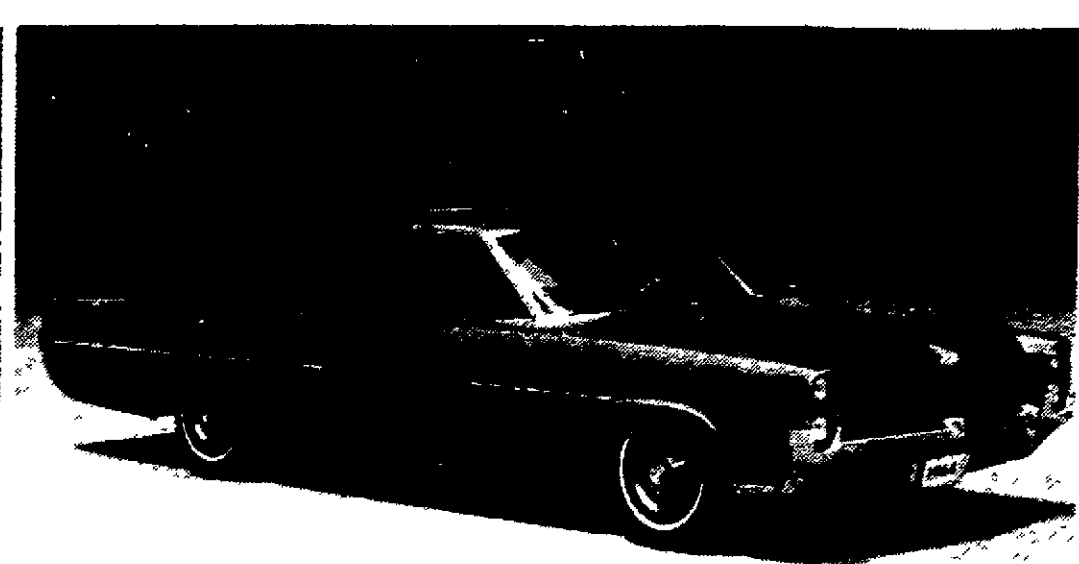

The study was based only on accidents investigated by the State Patrol.

Seat belt installation was mandatory in 1962-63 Wisconsin cars. Comparison of Wisconsin and out-of-state cars manufactured in 1958-61 and 1962-63 shows:

1. Most 1962-63 Wisconsin cars examined had seat belts installed when an accident occurred. Belts were also installed in 23 per cent of the 1962-63 out-of-state cars and in 12 to 14 per cent of the 1958-61 models.

2. Seat belts were used by more occupants in 1962-63 Wisconsin cars than by occupants in any of the other groups of cars.

3. When seat belts were in-

The 1964 Pontiac Catalina four-door hardtop joins the entire Pontiac line in being completely restyled while retaining a strong Pontiac identity. In addition to new styling, colors and interiors, the 1964 Pontiacs feature a wide range of high-performance V-8 engines, improved suspension system, and a complete group of accessories for added safety and comfort. The other Catalina models are two and four-door sedans, a two-door sports coupe, a convertible and six and nine-passenger station wagons.

stalled voluntarily, they were twice as likely to be used as when they were installed by mandate.

4. About two-thirds of all occupants in the sample were drivers and right-front passengers and these occupants had 96 per cent of all available seat belts. One-third of the passengers were not afforded the protection of seat belts simply because they occupied seats where belts were rarely installed.

5. Male occupants tended to use their seat belts more frequently than did female occupants.

6. Age of occupants did not appear to be associated with seat belt use.

Original seat belts were designed largely for utility alone. Now, however, they have moved into the world of high style, with colors keyed to harmonize with auto interiors. New belts, too, have been made easier to fasten and unfasten.

Pontiac Restyled to Emphasize Lines

Pontiac Motor Division's regular series lineup for 1964 has been completely restyled, yet retains a strong and impressive Pontiac identity.

The Catalina, Star Chief and Bonneville models appear longer, lower and wider without any significant change in exterior dimensions.

Catalina models and the Grand Prix sports coupe have a 120-inch wheelbase, while the Star Chief and Bonneville models are 123 inches. All station wagons have a 119-inch wheelbase.

All 1964 Pontiacs are one inch longer overall. The Catalina and Grand Prix measure 213 inches.

ing, auto engineers promise. There will be refinements of retractable-type seat belts that should appeal especially to women motorists. A past concern has been the tendency of seat belts to trail on the floor or outside the car door.

Some 1964 cars feature a warning light to remind passengers to fasten the belts.

When belts were first offered by the auto industry sales, were slow. However, during the past three years the installation rate has jumped substantially even in states where they are not mandatory on new cars. The Ford Motor Co. reported that 25 per cent of its cars were delivered with seat belts at customer request last year.

Young and Young-at-Heart Boosters for Convertibles

Who buys convertibles? Both the young and young-at-heart enjoy convertibles. One of the big manufacturers reports that half of its "soft top" sales are to persons over 35.

Nor are convertible sales confined predominantly in the 12-month sunshine states.

The convertible popularity has been highest — 9.3 per cent of total industry sales — in the Great Lakes region, and second highest in the Northeast, where convertibles take 8.9 per cent of the car market.

New manufacturing techniques, coupled with improved product quality, have increased convertible value retention. "Soft tops" are fully acceptable for family use the year around, even in northern climates.

Some 465,000 convertibles were sold by the industry last year, setting a new record. Compare that with 1955, when 187,000 units were sold.

The strong interest in convertibles is influenced by rapid growth of multi-car families, greater purchasing power available to most people, and a significant increase in the number of people entering the market in search of cars with an individual, sporty flair.

Introduction of compact convertibles, accounting for approximately 40 per cent of convertible sales last year, has placed the soft tops in a price range attractive to many buyers.

Other new accessories include a back window defogger, removable luggage carrier for sedan models, and roof or deck mounted ski racks.

In addition to the fore and aft movement to the power tilt front seat, the front and rear of the seat can be raised or lowered. The result is unlimited seat positions for full vision driving and greater comfort.

Speed-Control Device Pontiac's new speed-control device, Electric-Cruise, automatically reduces driving fatigue. There are nine different models available in the three Tempest series.

Changes in Tempest Significant design changes in the Tempest include a more powerful six-cylinder, in-line engine, a perimeter frame and completely restyled bodies. An eight-cylinder power plant also is available. The wheelbase has been increased to 115 inches for an overall length of 203 inches.

Tempest models include the two-door sports coupe, four-door sedan and four-door station wagon in the Tempest series; the two-door sports coupe, convertible coupe, four-door sedan and four-door station wagon in the LeMans Custom series, and the LeMans two-door sports coupe and convertible.

Then they discovered the safe contained only records and had been left unlocked.

Yes, Pontiac makes 30 cars all together. (We counted twice; it's 30.) No, they're definitely not all alike. A Le Mans is luxurious; a Bonneville, more so. A Catalina Safari wagon totes even bigger loads than a Tempest Safari. A GTO's still sprightlier than our sporty Grand Prix. No, not all Pontiacs are expensive though they certainly do look it. Yes, Pontiac Tempests sell right down there in the low-price field. No, you won't get a good deal just because it's Washington's Birthday. Yes, you'll get a good buy because Pontiac's selling and that's the truth!

Interior Spaciousness Marks the Continental

While continuing its classic styling theme, the 1964 Lincoln Continental incorporates substantial increases in interior spaciousness and luggage capacity.

A three-inch increase in car length, wheelbase and rear door width, together with a wider roof, give the 1964 Lincoln Continental interior spaciousness and improved riding qualities that are translated directly to increased passenger comfort.

The Continental roof is 5.4 inches wider in 1964 providing the car with a new styling flair in addition to increased headroom in both front and rear seats. The increased length of the car gives the Continental a longer profile. The car has a new grille and exterior ornamentation plus extensive new body sheet metal. There are new floor, sides and underbody reinforcements.

The spaciousness of the rear seat compartment has undergone other major improvements in addition to headroom. There leg room and nearly two and one-half inches in effective knee room plus nearly one-half inch of additional space in hip room. Greater width of the rear doors also gives passengers easier access to and from the car. Hip room also is increased in the front by 1.2 inches.

The more spacious interiors are highlighted by more luxurious appointments. The air conditioner outlets are an integral part of a new instrument panel. The ignition switch is relocated to the right of the steering column, while gauges, rather than lights, tell the status of fuel supply, oil pressure, water temperature and battery charge. Individually adjustable front seats are also a new option for 1964.

The Continental convertible—the only U.S.-made four-door convertible—has a new low-conceal roof design. The fabric is an exclusive five-ply material with soil resistant clear vinyl top coating. Convertible headlinings are black, to reduce glare.

Big V-8 Engine

The 1964 Lincoln Continental is powered by its proven team of the big 430 cubic inch V-8 engine and dual-range automatic transmission. The new Continental also has heavier rear axle gears.

Before delivery to the dealership, every Continental is put through an exclusive engine and transmission run-in quality test and a thorough 12-mile road test so that it meets the unmatched quality standards set for the Many convenience and luxury features that are extra cost options on other cars continue as standard equipment on Lincoln Continental. These include such power items as steering, brakes, six-way seat, side and vent windows, and radio antenna.

Also standard are AM radio, heater and defroster, electric windshield washers and hydraulic windshield wipers, wheel covers, white sidewall tires, 40-ampere alternator and rear seat radio speaker. A rear seat speaker for the convertible is available for the first time.

New features added as standard equipment for 1964 are automatic parking brake release, trip odometer, fuel warning light, map light and reading lights on the sedan.

Lincoln Continental continues the 24,000 miles or two-year warranty which it pioneered for the auto industry.

The Lincoln Continental incorporate significant increases in interior spaciousness and luggage capacity for 1964. While continuing its classic styling theme, the 1964 Continental is increased three-inches in over-all length and wheelbase. The Continental roof is 5.4 inches wider in 1964, providing the car with a new styling flair in addition to increased head room in both front and rear seats. The car has a longer profile and is enriched with a new grille, extensive new body sheet metal and exterior ornamentation. The luggage capacity has been increased by 15 per cent.

For 1964, the Chevrolet Motor Division will offer a total of 43 models in five separate passenger car lines. Each line is distinguishable by its own styling and wheelbase. Above, reading down: the 106-inch wheelbase Corvair Monza Coupe; 110-inch wheelbase Chevy II Nova 4-Door Sedan; the newest car in the Chevrolet family—the Chevelle Malibu 4-Door Sedan which has a wheelbase of 115 inches while the Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan is built on a 119-inch wheelbase. Not shown is the Corvette Sting Ray which sports a 98-inch wheelbase.

Chevrolet Offers Only Totally New Car for '64

Chevrolet — which set an all-time sales mark in 1963 — intends to continue this success in 1964 by offering the widest choice of automobiles in its history. Chevrolet will have 43 new models in five distinct sizes, particular requirements as never before. Following are the highlights, number the division has ever of the five members of Chevrolet's 1964 "family."

All Chevrolet's five lines of 1964 cars have styling and engineering improvements which teamed with the increase in models and options — allow the customer to tailor a car to his particular requirements as never before. Following are the highlights, number the division has ever of the five members of Chevrolet's 1964 "family."

Extensive new styling is evident in all new cars for 1964 — the dent in the regular Chevrolet, Chevelle. This much discussed line, again stressing the big car combination of beauty, quality, luxury which has made it so performance and distinction is popular.

models distinguish between the Super Sport, Impala, Bel Air and Biscayne series.

The 1964 Chevrolet models feature new interior trim styling and materials, yet retain the built-in comfort, convenience, luxury and durability traditional with Body by Fisher.

All of Chevrolet's advanced 119 inch wheelbase chassis features are continued for 1964, including X - built Safety - Girder frame. Full Coil suspension, self - adjusting Safety - Master brakes, high capacity electrical system with Delcotron generator and long-life exhaust system.

Seven engines ranging from 130 to 425 horsepower will be offered. Optional for the first time in 1964 on 409 cubic inch engines is a full transistor ignition system. Four transmission systems will be offered and the four-speed Synchro-Mesh includes refinements for smoother shifting and greater durability.

The Chevelle

Chevrolet's new automobile line for 1964 embodies a distinctive styling and will be offered in 11 models in three series — the top-of-the-line Malibu Super Sport, the Malibu and the 300.

Quality and vehicle width are stressed in the front end design which makes use of dual headlights and horizontal grille bars. Side treatment is clean and a peak line which carries through the car gives a look of length.

The rear end design accents car width with tail and backup lights at the extreme ends of the rear back panel. A textured molding extends the full width of the car.

A special feature of the Chevelle body is the use of curved side windows to give a lower look. A strikingly wide instrument panel is part of the distinctive interior styling which includes trim styles and materials color-keyed to the new exterior colors.

Built on a 115 inch wheelbase, the chassis is completely new, featuring a perimeter frame. Front suspension makes use of coil springs and rear suspension is of the coil spring four link type.

Fourteen inch wheels, self-adjusting Safety - Master brakes and a high capacity Delcotron generator are standard equipment. Four engines — two six-cylinder and two optional V8s — are offered on all Chevelle models. Four different transmissions are available.

CHEVY II

In its third year on the market, the Chevy II continues its popular blend of small car handling, roominess, economy and good taste in a total of 6 models in two series — the Nova and the 100 series.

The basic styling personality of the Chevy II is continued in 1964, but there is added beauty through refinements in the grille, side moldings, emblems and hub caps and more luxurious interiors.

A V8 engine will be offered for the first time as an extra-cost option on all models. With the V8, which will be Chevrolet's 223 cubic inch 195 horsepower model, the customer may choose either standard three-speed, optional four-speed or Powerglide transmissions.

Two six-cylinder engines at 120 and 155 horsepower will be available in all Chevy II models. The economical four - cylinder 90 horsepower engine will continue to be available in the two- and four-door sedans of the 100 series.

An important mechanical feature on all Chevy II models will be new, larger 9.5 inch self-adjusting brakes to give greater margin of stopping safety.

Corvair

Entering its fifth year, the Corvair will continue its important place in the Chevrolet lineup by appealing to a group of buyers who like something sportier and less conventional in a small car.

A Monza Spyder series comprised of a top-of-the-line convertible and club coupe is added for 1964, bringing the total models to seven in four series — the Monza Spyder, Monza, 700 and 500 series, plus two Green Brier Sports Wagons.

Corvair styling for 1964 retains the clean, classic theme with new identification through emblems and ornamentation. All models except Greenbrier feature a slender new front body molding with colorful plastic emblem insert. The word "Corvair" extends across luggage and engine compartment lids in bright block letters.

All Corvair models will feature a new larger displacement 164 cubic inch engine that delivers higher performance and top economy. This new engine retains the six-cylinder air-cooled design. Horsepower ranges from 95 to 110 to 150.

Improved brakes and a new suspension design will enhance handling characteristics of all Corvair models.

Corvette

America's only sports car — fresh from its most successful year in 1963 — continues the famed design of its two Sting Ray models, the convertible and the sport coupe for 1964.

Offering broader appeals to more kinds of buyers, the 1964 Corvette combines the driving ease and handling enjoyment of a genuine sports car with the luxury and convenience most fine car owners want.

Improvements include a full view rear window on the sport coupe and better noise isolation, improvements in ride, handling and performance on both models.

New variable rate front and rear springs make the ride noticeably smoother and more comfortable without any sacrifice of roadability or handling precision.

Tachycardia Means Excess Heart Action

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is paroxysmal tachycardia? My 16-year-old son has been told not to take gym or swim after a doctor found this condition in a checkup.

A. D.

"Tachycardia" means a speeding up of the rate of the heart beats. "Paroxysm a!" means that this comes on in sudden bursts.

The condition may be more of a nuisance than anything else, it may indicate that treatment is necessary.

From your letter I can't be sure whether this condition was noted in a routine, mass check-up at school, or whether your physician discovered it.

If it was the former, you should take the boy to your own doctor, or perhaps to a heart specialist.

However, if your own physician already is in charge of the case, he will continue periodic checking.

It may be that your son can return to athletics; again, it may be necessary for some program of treatment.

Had Rickets

Dear Dr. Molner: I had rickets as a child and am slightly swaybacked. Is there any way to correct this? A.A.

Usually not, after you have reached maturity, so I suggest that you let an orthopedist determine whether exercises will help; whether a brace or special garment will help; or, if necessary, surgery.

whether you should accept the condition—and forget it.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please describe epilepsy. My grandson, eight years old, was found on the floor at 7:15 a.m. in front of TV. Don't know how long he had been there but he was jerking all over. Later he got up and went on as though nothing had happened.

He has always made good grades in school. The family doctor advised my daughter that it was epilepsy, but not to tell the boy — to treat him just like they had always done.

P. V.

Epilepsy is a condition involving the nervous system — part of the brain — so that the muscles go into convulsion. There are many degrees of this. Some times the sufferer falls to the floor. In another type, petit mal, there may be only very brief pauses in the middle of a word, then continues as though nothing had happened.

There is no reason why this little fellow shouldn't be good in school. Epilepsy (with some exceptions) isn't related to intelligence: noted geniuses have had it.

The boy should not be burdened now with trying to understand epilepsy. That can come later. The doctor may prescribe daily medication to prevent the convulsions, even though this cannot "cure epilepsy." Modern drugs (non-habit-forming) have been developed to the degree that many epilepsy patients can lead a normal life without an attack.

'64 Corvair Monza by Chevrolet

It's got a frisky new engine (that puts superior traction under you)

Ever see a Corvair wearing tire chains? Not likely.

And it's not often you'll find a Corvair owner bothering to switch over to snow tires either.

Why? Rear-engine traction. The engine weight over Corvair's rear wheels gives them remarkable gripping power without any assist from special winter driving paraphernalia.

Reassuring to know this time of year—and also in the months to come when all that tidy white countryside turns into a melting pot that's likely to add to the misery.

Another thing about Corvair's engine: It's bigger this year.

Nearly 19 per cent more power in the standard version. Which is something you'll appreciate most any time of year, fair weather or foul.

You'll also appreciate not having to fool around with antifreeze. And not having to flush the radiator or fuss with hose connections. The engine's air cooled.

Matter of fact, we have a feeling that if more people knew what a cinch Corvair makes winter driving, there wouldn't be quite so many looking for excuses to duck South this time every year.

But then you never know. Corvair's a real kick to drive in warm weather, too. Why not just try one at your dealer's and decide for yourself? Whatever the weather, it's bound to be a fine day for it.

Cadillac's Top Changes Are In Engineering

Advances in Engine, Transmission and Interior Noted

New standards of performance, comfort and convenience are coupled with unmistakable Cadillac styling in the 11 models that make up the 1964 line up.

The performance gains result from a new engine and a new transmission, while the comfort and convenience story for 1964 is highlighted by the first fully automatic year-around conditioning system ever offered in an automobile.

One Less Model
The 11 models, one less than last year, are realigned into three series: three models are in the Sixty-Two series; four in the Sixty-Five series; and four in the deVille series.

Overall length is increased one-half inch to 223 1/2 inches on nine models and 223.8 inches on the Seventy-Five Sedan and Limousine. Other exterior and interior dimensions remain unchanged.

The division's major story is in engineering with advances in engine, transmission and accessories, according to the Cadillac general manager.

One high performance V-8 engine is standard in all models. Displacement is 429 cubic inches, a boost of ten per cent, and horsepower is up from 325 to 340. With a torque increase to 480 at 3000 RPM the performance gain is felt immediately in the lower speed range—namely the 20 to 50 mile an hour traffic-driving speeds. Yet with this increase in performance, engine weight and fuel economy remain the same as last year.

Larger Pistons
The engine displacement results from increases in both bore, 4.13 inches, and stroke, 4.0 inches. Although pistons are larger, they weigh less because of a more efficient design. Modifications are also made in the crankshaft and camshaft and the capacity of the starting motor is increased to correspond with the engine increases.

Two automatic transmissions are offered in 1964—the Hydra-Matic and the new Turbo Hydra-Matic.

The Hydra-Matic is modified to adapt to the high performance engine and retains its proven smoothness, efficiency and reliability. It is offered in the Sixty-Two series and the Seventy-Five Sedan and Limousine.

The Turbo Hydra-Matic is introduced this year in the deVille series, the Sixty Special Sedan and the Eldorado Convertible. It is a Hydra-Matic transmission in which a torque converter replaces one of the geared ratios.

Comfort Control
An industry first in the areas of comfort and convenience is Cadillac's new Comfort Control, a completely automatic heating and air conditioning system. The driver merely sets a dial thermostat on the instrument panel and Comfort Control does the rest, supplying cooled or warmed conditioned air at the temperature specified. The result is a constant, comfortable atmosphere within the car regardless of the variable temperatures and humidity outside.

From every perspective the styling changes reflect the appearance of greater size. In the front view, the grille runs uninterrupted from headlamp to headlamp and extends around the bumper ends over the cornering lamps. Its wide cross hatch design is divided horizontally by a grille bar finished in body paint color, adding to the look of breadth.

Traditional Tail Fin
The profile is long and unbroken, and length is accentuated still further by the lowering of the traditional Cadillac tail fin. The sporty lines of the Eldorado Convertible are distinguished also by full rear wheel openings trimmed in chrome.

Major styling changes are seen in the rear view, which continues the appearance of substance through breadth. Prominent vertical bumper ends frame the strong horizontal lines of the broad deck lid, above bumper and grille treatment and ends house the tail, stop, back-up and directional signal lamps which operate in conjunction with the lamps in the tail fins.

A choice of 16 colors is available. And five glamour colors, Ville Convertible and the Eldorado Convertible, and as an extra-cost option in the Coupe deVille and Sixty Special Sedan.

The Eldorado Convertible and Sixty Special Sedan interiors are again distinguished by a rich covered padded roof available in four colors. This option has been extended to include the eling this year is of baku wood tions, includes an override position for emergency operation months.

and reliability. It is offered in the Sixty-Two series and the Seventy-Five Sedan and Limousine.

The Turbo Hydra-Matic is introduced this year in the deVille series, the Sixty Special Sedan and the Eldorado Convertible. It is a Hydra-Matic transmission in which a torque converter replaces one of the geared ratios.

Comfort Control
An industry first in the areas of comfort and convenience is Cadillac's new Comfort Control, a completely automatic heating and air conditioning system. The driver merely sets a dial thermostat on the instrument panel and Comfort Control does the rest, supplying cooled or warmed conditioned air at the temperature specified. The result is a constant, comfortable atmosphere within the car regardless of the variable temperatures and humidity outside.

From every perspective the styling changes reflect the appearance of greater size. In the front view, the grille runs uninterrupted from headlamp to headlamp and extends around the bumper ends over the cornering lamps. Its wide cross hatch design is divided horizontally by a grille bar finished in body paint color, adding to the look of breadth.

Traditional Tail Fin
The profile is long and unbroken, and length is accentuated still further by the lowering of the traditional Cadillac tail fin. The sporty lines of the Eldorado Convertible are distinguished also by full rear wheel openings trimmed in chrome.

Major styling changes are seen in the rear view, which continues the appearance of substance through breadth. Prominent vertical bumper ends frame the strong horizontal lines of the broad deck lid, above bumper and grille treatment and ends house the tail, stop, back-up and directional signal lamps which operate in conjunction with the lamps in the tail fins.

A choice of 16 colors is available. And five glamour colors, Ville Convertible and the Eldorado Convertible, and as an extra-cost option in the Coupe deVille and Sixty Special Sedan.

The Eldorado Convertible and Sixty Special Sedan interiors are again distinguished by a rich covered padded roof available in four colors. This option has been extended to include the eling this year is of baku wood tions, includes an override position for emergency operation months.

IF IT'S TOO QUIET—TURN ON THE RADIO

Some of the finest comments that come to us from owners of 1964 Cadillacs concern the car's extraordinary quietness of operation.

A Cadillac owner remains comfortably insulated from the distraction and din of the heaviest midtown traffic. And we think that this remarkable characteristic tells a great deal about the quality and goodness of this extraordinary new Cadillac creation.

First of all, it indicates the car's high level of craftsmanship. Every 1964 Cadillac, in fact, now undergoes more than 1400 separate inspections.

It indicates, too, how Cadillac's combination of functional styling, scientific soundproofing and advanced new suspension have reduced to an almost unbelievable degree the sounds normally associated with travel.

And, even more importantly, it speaks of the car's great engineering. Cadillac's dynamic new engine operates with flawless precision, despite its record power. Its new transmissions, both the Hydra-Matic and the Turbo Hydra-Matic, translate that power into smooth, hushed response . . . and combined with exclusive True-Center drive line, virtually eliminate vibration.

If you have not yet driven a 1964 Cadillac, you will find it a most revealing experience. Your dealer will have one ready any time that's convenient. Just let the car's amazing quiet do the talking.

Ford Falcon Restyled for Better Riding

More Room, Interior Beauty; Basic Engine Improved 6-Cylinder with 3 col cut although it retai Completely restyled for the first time since its introduction four years ago, the Ford Falcon for 1964 combines a new look of action with a more spacious interior, added economy, and a dramatically smoother new ride.

Along with its new styling, comfort and convenience, Falcon for 1964 offers even more of its traditional big car value in the handy compact size.
Steering wheel, brake pedal and accelerator have been relocated, and seat travel has been increased, allowing for easier entry and additional driving pleasure. Other conveniences include an attractively redesigned concave instrument panel with larger glove box, driver-oriented controls and easy-to-read instruments.

Vibration Reduced
Major engineering changes in both front and rear suspension combine to reduce road vibration and provide a significant ride improvement. Front suspension changes include redesigned strut mountings, reduced ball joint friction, and new shock absorbers. At the rear friction is minimized through a reduction in the number of spring leaves and the use of tip-liners. Longer and wider rear springs and a 1 1/2-inch wider rear tread combine with the new shock absorbers to improve both ride and handling.

A forward-thrusting side profile that gives the 1964 Falcon a look of movement even when parked is accentuated by deeply sculptured contours which sweep from the tip of the front fend-ers to the rear of the car.

Grille Design
The new grille has a bold rectangular design that is recessed at an angle to complement the side profile and richly sculptured hood.

All Ford Falcons for 1964 present a new, dynamic, rear-end appearance with newly styled taillights and rear bumper.

The Ford Falcon Sprint models are identified by the unique Sprint script and performance emblem on the front fenders.
Simulated knock-off wire-wheel type wheel covers add to the racy appearance of the V-8 powered, top-of-the-line Ford Falcon.

Ford Falcons for 1964 offer more interior beauty, durability and roominess than ever before. All-new upholstery styles and materials are color-matched with richly designed combination rubber-vinyl floor coverings on Standard models, and nylon blend carpeting in Deluxe models.

Improved Engine
The basic engine for 1964 is an improved version of the six-cylinder, 85-horsepower Falcon

Although it retains its handy compact size, the Ford Falcon has an exciting new look of action for 1964. Completely restyled for the first time since its introduction four years ago, the new Falcon offers added comfort inside, improved economy and a softer, big-car ride. A forward-thrusting side profile that gives the car a look of movement even when parked is accentuated by deeply sculptured contours which sweep from the tip of the front fenders to the rear of the car. Matching performance with its looks, the Falcon Sprint convertible (shown above) features a 260-cubic-inch V-8 engine as standard equipment. The Falcon has the widest model choice in the compact field with 17 models in five series including 2- and 4-door sedans, hardtops, sport coupes, convertibles, station wagons and the Station Bus, Club Wagon and Deluxe Club Wagon.

engine that in 1961 recorded the greatest gas mileage ever achieved for any "6" or "8" in the 25-year history of the Mobil Economy Run. Standard on convertibles and Deluxe Club
Wagons is the 101-horsepower, 170-cubic-inch six-cylinder engine.

Standard on Sprint models is the Challenger 260-cubic-inch V-8 which made its debut with a 1-2 finish in its class in the Monte Carlo Rally early in 1963.
Offering the ultimate in performance with good economy on regular fuel, the Challenger 260 is optionally available on all models for 1964 except Station Bus and Club Wagons. The Ford-exclusive three-speed, allsynchromesh manual transmission is standard with this engine. The four-speed manual and Fordomatic transmissions are available as options.

Peking's Leadership Won't Relax Policies,
Communist Daily Says

TOKYO (AP) — Red China told the United States Wednesday not to hope for a less rigid "second echelon" of Chinese Communist leadership with which it could do business.

In a reaffirmation of Chinese Communist policy, the official Peking People's Daily rejected
U.S. conditions for improvement in Chinese-American relations as "most preposterous."
The paper said Red China could not under any circumstances be dissuaded from supporting Asian revolutionary movements. It also again demanded U.S. military withdrawal from the Nationalist-held island of Formosa and the rest of Asia.

Fairlane's New Lines Give It Bigger Look

From a full range of Indianapolis-proved engines to actionkeyed new styling, the 1964
Fairlane offers a full measure of performance and economy in a family-sized package.

Fresh styling for 1964 may give some the impression that the Fairlane has become a bigger car. Actually, it retains its original over-all length of 197.6 inches. Over-all width has been increased almost an inch to 72.2 inches.

The dynamic new lines of the 1964 Fairlane are complemented by a selection of five engines three of which are of the same basic design as the V-8 which powered the Lotus cars to second and seventh place finishes in the 1963 Indianapolis 500-Mile Memorial Day Classic.
Combined with five transmissions for 1964, they offer a full line of performance and economy choices designed to meet the requirements of nearly any driver.

Transmissions
Included in the lineup are 170- and 200-cubic-inch-six-cylinder engines and 260- and two 289-cubic-inch V-8's. Transmissions available with designated engines include three - speed manual, the Fordomatic two-speed automatic, overdrive, four-speed all - synchromesh manual floor shift, and a new dual-range Cruise-O-Matic automatic.

New for 1964 is a 289-cubic-inch V-8 with two-barrel carburetor rated at 195 horsepower.
This engine combines outstanding performance with good cruising economy on regular grade fuel.

Styling changes in the 1964 Fairlane include a new roof for a wider, lower appearance which retains the popular Thunderbird design. The rear quarter panels present a smoother top appearance while the sides are highly sculptured. A simulated air scoop flows into a prominent convex shape to blend with the round taillights.

A new grille gives the 1964
Fairlane positive Ford identification. In combination with new front bumpers of greater depth and wrap-around, the front end carries out the "more substantial" theme of the car.
The combination of these features with the all-new rear end gives a longer, lower look to Fairlane for 1964.

Inside, all-new trim designs with new, more luxurious and durable fabrics and a new instrument cluster result in a fresher, more modern appearance. Newly designed sports coupe bucket seats offer more side support and improved comfort. New seat trim offers greater comfort and a softer, plush-ier feel.

In combination with a rugged unit body, Fairlane design and engineering achievements have produced a lightweight vehicle with the performance characteristics, comfort and passenger convenience normally found in a much larger and heavier car.

Added Safety
Construction of a heavy-gauge steel box section from the cowl area to the rear wheel housing provides rigidity and added safety. Major areas of the body are supported by "torque boxes" that absorb the force, the vibration and twisting action as the car moves over uneven surfaces.

Development of a more nearly constant viscosity shock absorber fluid has made possible a shock absorber giving a softer, more controlled ride throughout the year.
The 1964 Fairlane model lineup includes 2- and 4-door sedans and a 4-door Ranch Wagon in the Fairlane series. The Fairlane 500 series includes 2-and 4-door sedans, a 2-door hardtop, a 2-door sports coupe and a 4-door Custom Ranch Wagon.

Prize Disappears at Halloween Fete

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP)—
There were costumed characters all over the place at the fall festival and Halloween party at West Hopkins High School.
It seemed the spooks and gobblins were right busy, too. When it came time to give out the main prize, a turkey, it was gone.
The sheriff's office located the turkey — in the custody of three young men. Two drew five days in jail; the third was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Johnson Expected To Appear Woman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to appoint a St. Louis woman attorney, Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman, to fill one of two vacancies on the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, the Washington Post said.
Mrs. Freeman, 47, has been associate general counsel of the St. Louis Housing and Land
Clearance Authorities since 1956. She is an official of the
men.

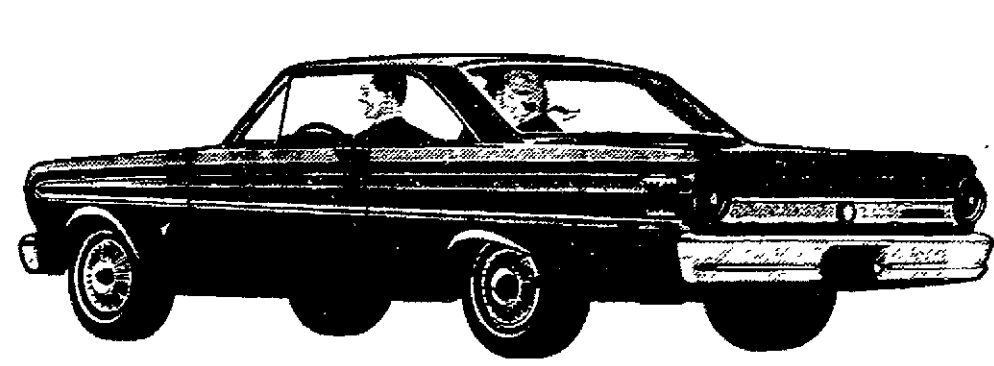

The Restyled Ford Fairlane for 1964 presents a big-car appearance and has greatly improved engine performance. Although new styling makes this middle-weight Fairlane 500 4-door sedan look bigger, it remains about the size of the 1956 Ford on the outside and the 1959 Ford on the inside. New roof styling for the 1964 gives the Fairlane a wider, lower appearance, and the highly sculptured sides result in a look of grace and motion. Five engines are available, three of them of the same basic design as the V-8 that powered Lotus cars to second and seventh places in the gruelling Indianapolis race. These include two 289-cubic-inch V-8s, one 260-cubic-inch V-8, plus 170- and 200-cubic-inch 6-cylinder engines. Combined with five transmissions, these power plants offer a full array of performance and economy choices for 1964.

Pancakes a Treat in Any Language

Pancakes, a Favorite American breakfast treat, are ideal for an informal brunch or supper. After preparing a favorite recipe or mix, or maybe a combination of several varieties, add an individual touch by serving two or three different toppings. Above are Creamy Ham Topping, Crunchy Peanut Brittle Topping and Honey Butter.

A Baking Dish replaces the griddle in modern versions of two German favorites, Apple Pancakes 'N Sausage, above, and Potato Pancakes with sausage. The hearty dishes, cut into squares after being baked in the oven, should be served piping hot with syrup or other toppings for an excellent brunch, lunch or supper. These easy dishes take the flip out of flapjacks to make them ideal for company fare.

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Pancakes were among the first foods cooked by man. They became clan or family favorites when the first mixture of meal and water was baked upon a sizzling hot stone. Their subsequent success through the ages is affirmed by the fact that there's hardly a civilization or people that does not include some form of pancake in its cuisine.

From France come crepes, those delicate-paper-thin pancakes known best as the famous dessert Crepes Suzette. But they come in a hundred other French varieties.

When thin pancakes are rolled around a cheese or fruit filling, they become blintzes... those magnificent pancakes found in Jewish cookery. Like French crepes, blintzes may be mixed and matched in a variety of ways.

The Chinese also make stuffed rolled pancakes, the most famous of which are filled with a delicious chopped egg or shrimp mixture.

Mexican pancakes, better known as tortillas, are literally little cakes of cornmeal. The preparation of true Mexican tortillas is hard work involving the grinding of corn, laborious kneading and manipulation into the familiar thin, round shape. Fortunately, these Mexican cakes are available frozen and may be quickly made by simply frying lightly in skillet or griddle until they are defrosted and tender.

Waffles have their origin in the French "gaufre," a rich light confection baked on irons, dipped into deep fat and fried.

Here, too, the American food industry has perfected waffles in frozen form... just as it has blintzes and tortillas.

Then there are the many pancake mixes available in package form to make flapjacks or waffles possible in a few minutes time.

For those who enjoy potato pancakes or those delightful apple pancakes we suggest the recipes that call for a baking dish. It's a new preparation version for some real old-world treats and both are served with flavorful sausage links.

The Cheese Blintz recipe calls for a Blueberry Sauce... the Mexican Luncheon Pancakes team tortillas with spaghetti sauce and kidney beans... Crepes Nicoises are chicken filled waffles... and to add full measure to this week's collection of recipes, there are several wonderful, pancake topping recipes.

With Today's Abundance of frozen foods, it's so much easier to plan unusual menus such as these pancake varieties that represent different cuisines. The Mexican tortillas are combined with a chili sauce that uses frozen spaghetti combined with meat for an interesting pancake luncheon. In the center are Cheese Blintzes with Blueberry Sauce and at the top waffles team with chicken a la king or creamed chicken to make Crepe Nicoises or chicken-filled waffles.

Meanwhile, combine berries and water in saucepan. Bring just to boiling point. Mix cornstarch sugar, salt and nutmeg; stir into blueberry mixture. Stir until thickened and clear. Remove from heat; add tablespoon butter and lemon juice. Serve hot over blintzes. Recipe makes eight servings.

Cherries Featured This Month

Markets are celebrating February holidays with plentiful supplies of canned and frozen cherries, according to Louise Archbold, consumer marketing specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Apples are especially a good fruit buy this month. Fresh dates, bananas, and avocados are reasonably priced, but the price of fresh oranges may be higher. Check grapefruit prices carefully since they will vary from market to market.

Among vegetables, potatoes and onions are plentiful. Carrots, cabbage, sweet potatoes, broccoli, brussels sprouts and green onions are also listed among the better vegetable choices for keeping food costs low. For tasty salads lettuce, green peppers, spinach and radishes are available too.

Fish Plentiful
A good meat substitute for the week is fish. You'll find supplies of perch, crappies, and pike from Wisconsin waters and red snappers from Florida in certain markets. Canned tuna, sardines, and frozen halibut will be attractively priced.

However, a variety of pork and beef appear on the markets. You can expect good buys on also. Good pork buys include broiler-fryers. Stewing hens will be bacon, hams, spareribs and pork roasts.

Good beef choices include Large eggs continue to be steaks and roasts. Remember lower in cost than the smaller that the cost per pound may be sizes.

Cornbread Has Mexican Flavor

If you and your family like robust flavors like those you get from onions and peppers, then try adding these ingredients to a package of cornbread mix. Use a tablespoon for each of minced onion, green and red pepper, and half-cup of misleading since some cuts have more bone and fat than others. Round steak yields 3 1/2 average servings per pound, while porterhouse steaks provide only two.

WRINKLES

by Marie Davant

Chemical science has found a white substance made with quick silver that works wonders on wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it's entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry-skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that's not all! "Old-Age" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms, face and neck fade away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples and blemishes and scars, outwardly caused, dry up or become less noticeable! Make a 6-day test without risking one penny. Just get a jar of Peacock's Imperial Creme. Use for 6 days, and if you're not delighted with the results the full price will be refunded, $2 plus tax.

Dry Air Too Hot For Comfort

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: During the heating season, the air in our home is so dry it affects our noses and throats uncomfortably. We have hot air heat, oil-fired. How can we correct this dry air condition?

A: Efficient humidifiers for hot air furnaces are made by several manufacturers. Consult your heating contractor about the various makes and costs. Most of these humidifiers consist of a large water pan with ceramic or glass fiber evaporator plates. The pan is connected to the water supply so that there is a constant amount of water in the pan for continuous evaporation.

Q: Our fairly new house has copper piping throughout. Occasionally the water has a slight greenish tinge, which doesn't affect the smell or taste. Is this harmful?

A: No; nothing to worry about. The slightly greenish tinge is probably due to occasionally having a higher percentage of carbon dioxide in the water supply, causing a minute percentage of copper to go into solution and faintly discolor the water.

Q: We expect shortly to move into an old house we have just purchased. It is a wood frame house in excellent condition but it needs the outside painted verdy badly. If possible, we'd like to have this done before local paint dealer, or write to careful to keep the trisodium we move it. Must we wait for National Paint Varnish & Lacquer Association, 1500 Rhode Island Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20405.

Wash the shingles with a solution of one - half cup of trisodium phosphate in a gallon of hot water. Then rinse with plenty of clear water to remove all traces of the cleaning solution. Be careful to keep the trisodium phosphate solution away from painted surfaces as it will soften paint. Be sure to start the cleaning at the bottom of a wall, working upwards in small sections and doing the rinsing immediately. Otherwise, dirty water dribbling down over dry, uncleaned surfaces leaves streaks almost impossible to remove later.

The Lenten Story

BY WOODY ISHMAEL

CHRIST CLEANSSES THE TEMPLE

Only once in His life, did Christ show anger. Matthew tells the story in two dramatic paragraphs:

"And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves.

"And said unto them, It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves." (Matthew XXI:12-13) 2-20

Seven Seas Casserole Easy-fix Item

This dinner-in-a-dish suggestion comes in handy during Lent. Preheat the oven to 375 degrees. Mix a can of cream of celery soup with 1 1/2 cups milk and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Heat for 10 minutes.

Grease a 1 1/2-quart casserole and arrange 2 cups cooked seafood, 1/4 cup finely chopped onion, 1 1/2 cups rice and 2 cups peas in layers and pour the hot soup over all. Sprinkle 1/2 cup grated cheese over the top. Bake in a preheated oven for 25 minutes. Serve with a crisp salad, garlic bread and deep dish apple pie.

Marble Stains May Be Treated as Wood

How do you clean marble? Marble stains much the same as wood, so you need to treat it with some care. Usually washing with a mild low-suds cleaner and warm water will clean marble.

For an ink stain, blot it up immediately and wash off at once. You can sometimes take out an old or a deep ink stain by placing a thick cloth that has been dipped in chlorine bleach over the stain for several hours. A paste of household cleanser and water left to dry over an oil or grease stain may bring results.

Forgotten Swim Champ Deserves Place in State Sports Hall of Fame

BY CHARLES HOUSE

When the selection board of Wisconsin's Sports Hall of Fame meets again, I hope they will consider a candidate of whom they have almost surely not heard. I offer him as a nominee for the honor of representation.

His name is George Whittaker and it is likely that you haven't heard of him, either. I "discovered" Mr. Whittaker long ago when I was a cub reporter, and I have never forgotten him nor have I forgotten his incredible accomplishments. Mr. Whittaker died a few years ago so it is not likely that his name would be considered by the Hall of Famers unless this column stirs him to their attention.

Mr. Whittaker was a swimmer. He didn't know how good he was until one day when he was in his teens, he found a book which listed world championship records in athletic events. He discovered to his surprise that he was easily the fastest swimmer in the world!

Young George had difficulty in persuading his mother that he ought to enter into competition, but finally he was able to. She bought him a new "swimming suit" for 15 cents; she refused to spend more money on his crazy scheme.

She packed some food for him into a market basket and he set out for the Chicago World's Fair of 1893 where he entered the swimming races.

The lanky youngster with provincial manners was scoffed at ahead of the field using what by the big-city swimmers who called him "That Milwaukee Gawk."

Teasing Scoffers

One day in a dressing room before they had seen Whittaker shoot through the water, one of them spoofed him.

"So you think you can swim, do you?" someone asked.

Whittaker said he reckoned as how he could. He played his part well; he told them that he once had managed to swim across the Milwaukee river, a matter of about 200 yards. He had, however, been a good swimmer since he was 3 years old.

They asked him what stroke he used but he had to say he didn't know. Probably it had no name at that time, but today we know it as the Australian crawl.

Crawl Stroke

In those days, swimmers were using the breast stroke and the side stroke for speed. Whittaker, however, believed that he was the inventor of the crawl. He had developed it, he told me, on the river where he found it the best for swimming upstream and "chasing," he said, "the hell out of the ducks."

As a point of fact, however, Whittaker didn't devise the stroke. It was used by the American Indians and I have seen a so-called "coin of Abydos" which depicts Leander of Greek legend swimming the Hellespont over on his back and spout

'streams of water into the air like a whale. "It made one feel so mad," Whittaker told me, "that he like to drowned."

Credit to Wisconsin

In 1896, swimming in the 100-yard world championships for the Chicago Athletic Club, Whittaker won easily in 1:22.6. He became Wisconsin's first world champion in ANYTHING.

But George Whittaker is forgotten by the sports world. The credit for the crawl stroke is given, in record books, to one Richard Cavill, an Australian, who exhibited his stroke in England in 1902.

Whittaker, however, had been using the crawl stroke since he was 14 years old. And, even at the age of 8, it was well known, in Milwaukee that George Whittaker could swim faster than any man in the city.

At any rate, there ought to be a place in Wisconsin's Sports Hall of Fame for George Whittaker, who looked into a book of records and discovered that he was the fastest swimmer in the world.

Shoots Way Ahead

The lanky youngster shot out of the field using what by the big-city swimmers who called him "That Milwaukee Gawk."

Whittaker also won the 100 yard swim but, on the technicality of not touching the rope at the end of the course, he was given third place.

From that day on the "Whittaker stroke" made news, and so did young George. Swimming in Milwaukee and Chicago, matter of about 200 yards. He had, however, been a good swimmer since he was 3 years old.

Beats Olympic Champ

Then unto the scene came Paul Neuman, an olympic champion. He was bursting with confidence in himself and with scorn for young George. But in the mile race, Whittaker left him "about four blocks behind." The George Whittaker I interviewed so long ago was then 78 years old. He regretted that he never made efforts to set speed records in time. His sole joy, he told me, was just in leaving Mary Shelia was installed as president of Mariari College this week, succeeding Sister M. Fideles who had headed the liberal arts institution for 11 years. Sister Mary Shelia is the fifth president of the college that was founded in 1936.

GIGGLES

WHAT TO DO about the giggles? Naturally there are times when they are hard to control. So why try? If you feel like giggling, go ahead and giggle! But do learn the time and place to curb them. In school or in church is not the place. And when you're in a group, please don't huddle in a corner with a few girls and titter. It's rude and others may feel you're poking fun at them. When everyone is in on the fun, though and you're not in a public place, it's time to let them roll!

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

WIDOW HAS PLAN

Dear Louise: I am in my late sixties. I have many friends some of whom moved a way years ago and others who moved more recently because of retirement. The only way we keep in touch is through Christmas cards which are such fun to get, especially those containing little annual notes or letters. In the last three years, I have had distressing repercussions. I sent cards to friends who had died during the year. The last straw was this past season when I sent a card and long letter addressed to a dear friend in Seattle whom I met years ago on a Mediterranean cruise. Her sister in California and who was unknown to me, had to write me a note of her sudden death in October. As a result of this and of other similar cases, my two sisters and I made a deal which I think is worth passing on to others. Within a few weeks after my death, my surviving sisters (or sister) will inform out of town friends whose names and addresses are on my Christmas

DAR Good Citizenship Winners Feted

pins Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Dame, 1815 S. Oneida St. The girls' mothers were also honored.

Those receiving the award were Miss Sharon Chammess, Kaukauna; Miss Judith Zemple, Manawa; Miss Martha Miller, Clintonville; Miss Karen Kennedy, Shiocton; Miss Judith Dryden, Seymour; Miss Mary Frank, Kimberly; Miss Nancy Glasenapp, Hortonville; Miss Barbara Schertz, and Miss Nancy Dafeo, Appleton.

A program was presented by Mounir Ninatallah, AFS student from Egypt.

Mrs. Karel Richmond had charge of the good citizenship program. The lunch committee was composed of Mrs. Eugene Pierce, Mrs. Louis Phillips, Mrs. Carl Neidhold, Mrs. Virginia too? It is an excellent idea and Nabbefeld and Mrs. Fern Meyer.

Louise Davis Answers

We all anticipate the inevitable by making wills, so why not set up a plan like yours? It is an excellent idea and well worth publishing.

Your Problems Smoking Problems Make Ann Worry About Country's Youth

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 14 and my brother is 16. We've read so much about cigarettes causing lung cancer and being bad for the heart that we are scared to death.

We aren't worried about ourselves. We don't smoke and we never want to start. It's our dad we are writing about. He smokes between two and three packs of cigarettes a day. Once in a while when he runs out he acts like a caged lion.

(2) Smoking undeniably has shortened the lives of many.

(3) Smoking is expensive.

(4) Smoking is neither sophisticated nor stylish.

(5) In the face of the damning evidence, particularly the Surgeon General's report, anyone who takes up smoking is stupid. So who needs it?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My friend has many sterling qualities. I value her friendship and would not want to offend her. Please tell me what to do.

For her birthday I gave her a costly piece of jewelry which I selected with special care. It was something I would have loved for myself.

Mom has been after Dad to quit for a long time but he says, "What's the use? I've been smoking for 25 years. The damage is done now." Dad has a hacking cough and gets wind- ed when he walks a flight of stairs. The doctor has said cigarettes are poison to him, but he argues with the doctor the same way he argues with Mom.

Do you think if he quit smoking now it might help him live longer?—His Kids

Dear Kids: I don't know if it's too late for your dad or not. I do know it's a lead-pipe cinch that he will add to the damage if he continues to smoke.

My major concern is the youth of this country — you whose lives lie ahead. If you are tempted to take up this foolish habit just remember:

(1) Smoking has never been known to improve man's physical condition or add to his years.

She acknowledged the gift warmly, but I sensed a superficiality in her tone of voice—as if she was merely being polite. Three months have passed and age is done now. Dad has a hacking cough and gets wind- ed when he walks a flight of stairs. The doctor has said cigarettes are poison to him, but he argues with the doctor the same way he argues with Mom.

Do you think if he quit smoking now it might help him live longer?—His Kids

Dear Kids: I don't know if it's too late for your dad or not. I do know it's a lead-pipe cinch that he will add to the damage if he continues to smoke.

My major concern is the youth of this country — you whose lives lie ahead. If you are tempted to take up this foolish habit just remember:

Newlyweds Peter Sellers and Britt Ekland left the register office after their marriage Wednesday in Guildford, England. The actor is 36 and his Swedish actress wife, 21. After the ceremony, police had to clear a way through a cheering crowd of nearly 1,000 women and teen-agers. (AP Wirephoto)

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Pain in the Neck

Next to a cold in the head, the most common complaint these days seems to be a pain in the neck and shoulders. Desk workers lead the complainers.

The trouble usually starts about mid-afternoon with a dull ache at the nape of the neck that eventually spreads across the shoulders. If you are subject to the ailment, you know it's pure misery. But do you know what to do about it?

Look first for the cause. Usually it is rooted in nervous tension from work pressures or muscular tension from poor posture.

When you work against time at demanding tasks, it is not abnormal for your nerves to tighten up. You should make an effort, however, to relieve strain before it reaches the painful stage. For the sake of your comfort, efficiency and general well-being, you really must take these measures:

Simply walk away from your work for ten minutes. Use the period to tidy up and refresh yourself with a hot beverage. Your comfort and renewed energy trigger maximum efficiency.

Lose Without Blues

The answer to muscular tension is an "easy seat." You've got it when you sit squarely on your hips, with back erect and soles of feet on the floor; when you look down at your work with your eyes, instead of crook-weight! You can lose without ing your neck; when you avoid hunger pangs, fatigue and flab—the habit of leaning on your by aftermaths. Just send for

Break Rule If Reason Is Good

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"Third hand high" is one of the general rules of defense, but the general rules apply only when you can't think of any reason to break them. You may have to play low rather than high on the first round of a suit to keep communication with your partner.

West leads the eight of hearts, and East must make the key play at the first trick. If East follows the general rule he will put up the queen of hearts.

South shrewdly refuses the first heart trick. East continues with a low heart, and South wins with the jack.

Now South goes after the diamonds. If West wins the first diamond, he cannot lead a heart, because both of his hearts have already been played. If East wins the first diamond, he can set up his hearts but can never get back to cash them.

In either case South can develop the diamonds and makes a total of ten tricks. The defenders take the first heart and their two diamonds, but nothing else.

Key Play

The key play comes, as we have seen, at the first trick. East should play the nine of hearts instead of the queen. (Any low heart would be correct, but the nine encourages West to lead hearts again.)

South must win the first heart trick. When South leads a diamond, West steps up with the king of diamonds to lead his other heart. This time, of course, East puts up the queen of hearts to force out South's ace.

Now South is in trouble. If he is cautious, he will take his eight tricks and fold his tent. If South, instead, leads another diamond to try for his contract, East will take the ace of diamonds and the rest of the hearts. The defense will thus get four hearts and two diamonds, and South will be down two.

Remember, of course, that the recommended key play is useful only against notrump. When there is a trump suit you must make sure of one heart trick or run the risk of never getting any tricks in the suit.

Daily Question

With both sides vulnerable, the dealer at your right opens with one spade. You hold: S 9 8 4, H K Q 9 6 3 2, D A 7 C 8 5. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. You would bid one heart if the opening bid had been one club or one diamond, but a vulnerable overcall at the level of two should promote

Swing E-Z Squares To Mark Holiday

The Swing E-Z Squares will observe George Washington's birthday at a dance at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at Jerry's Bowling Lanes, Kimberly. Tom Hale will call for the party. A cherry dessert potluck lunch will be served at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bast and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Van Box will co-chairmen the affair. An adult beginners class will

Homemakers Hear Mrs. Marvin Oelke

HORTONVILLE — Mrs. Marvin Oelke showed slides and told of her recent trip to Hawaii when the Homey Helpers Homemakers club met Monday evening at the high school.

The group voted a donation to CARE for self-help tools for a needy country. Plans were discussed for a trip to Milwaukee in March to the Spring Midwest Festival.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Len Timm, Mrs. Gerald Wendell, and Mrs. Lyle Wickman.

three college English credits if they pass examinations.

The program will be in operation in both boys' and girls' departments for both semesters next year. Students accepted for advanced placement who pass both semesters will earn six college credits.

The St. Norbert English department has worked out a syllabus which is required to be used in the advanced placement classes. The course covers English literature and composition, with emphasis on drama, and requires a number of critical reports to be written.

From 15 to 20 students from each department are expected to be accepted for the advanced placement courses. They will be selected by Xavier on the basis of their high school English work. St. Norbert leaves the selection entirely up to the high school, but wants the students to be in the top 20 per cent of their graduating class.

Approve Teachers
The college will approve the teachers, who must meet requirements. Teachers for next year have not been selected. Members of the college committee will visit Xavier periodically to facilitate operation of the program. Meetings of the high school and college teachers and committee members will be arranged.

Juniors who will take the advanced placement courses next year must take the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board in May.

Xavier teachers handling present arrangements are Mrs. Hackworthy and Sister Thomas Aquin.

Senior boys in Mrs. Hackworthy's class, which has been accepted in the advanced placement program for this semester, will be given a tour of St. Norbert College in March. They will take part in a luncheon and an exchange of opinions on the program.

Officials Investigate
Two Xavier students now are taking a beginning calculus course at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center. School officials began investigating the CEEB Advance Placement Program this winter when they understood it may not be possible to enroll high school students on an advanced placement basis in the future at the center.

Robert Detloff, Xavier boys' guidance counselor, said the St. Norbert program is preferable to the CEEB program, since students receive college credits which can be transferred on an official college transcript.

Two Hortonville Men Fined $25 for Fight

Two Hortonville men were fined $25 and costs in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2, where they pleaded guilty Wednesday of disorderly conduct charges.

Ronald Ulman, 21, and Charles D. Luepke, 22, were arrested by Appleton police at Outagamie and Second streets early Wednesday morning where a fight had taken place.

The fight was a result of an argument which began in a Winnebago County beer tavern.

Citizens Plan Care Center In Appleton

Mrs. Kyle Ward Reveals Program For Facilities

Plans are being made to create a board to organize a day care center in Appleton, Mrs. Kyle Ward Jr. told Outagamie County Council for Retarded Children Inc. Wednesday in Plamann School.

Mrs. Ward, chairman of a citizens' committee studying facilities needed for the mentally retarded and the mentally ill, outlined the background of the committee. She discussed the need for a citizens' movement to establish facilities for rehabilitation of both the mentally ill and the retarded in the community.

The mentally retarded need a work training or day care center, she said.

Small Groups
Several small groups are examining community facilities now available and exploring possibilities for development, she said. The committee hopes these groups will report on their findings soon, she said.

The citizens' committee, under the auspices of Outagamie County Mental Health Association, is trying to form a day care center board that will be approved by the State Department of Public Welfare, Division of Mental Hygiene, in order to make the community eligible for a state grant, Mrs. Ward said.

Dr. Harold Cooper, director of Outagamie County Community Guidance Center, and Roland Nock, principal of Morgan School, also spoke.

The Council for Retarded Children has expressed interest in and desire to cooperate with the work of citizens' committee, Mrs. Ward said.

Downer Girls Will Visit At Lawrence

About 60 women from Milwaukee - Downer College will take a second look at Lawrence College this coming weekend, to gather information about the curriculum and undergraduate life.

When announcement of the Lawrence - Downer merger was made in the fall, most of the Downer student body came to Appleton for a brief campus visit. The second visit will be more thorough, for Downer students must notify Lawrence of their intention to transfer by April 15.

Downer faculty members have an April 1 date by which time they must express their intention to teach at the newly created Lawrence University.

Jill Parson, Duluth, Minn., and Michael Lynn, Barrington, Ill., are the student co-chairmen in charge of the weekend.

Saturday afternoon. Downer girls will be able to confer with departmental representatives in Main Hall. Miss Mary Morton, dean of women, and Registrar Dorothy Draheim will also be on hand to discuss curriculum problems.

Social events on the calendar one of "replanning" the area, for the Downer girls include and would involve study of fraternity open houses and the streets, traffic, zoning, industry, mid-winter formal ball on Saturday, and a brunch in Memorial Union on Sunday morning.

Itemizing Deductions for State Income Tax Explained by Expert

For The Associated Press
Those who produce income by operating a business or practicing a profession are allowed to deduct ordinary and necessary expenses from the gross income they generate. Those whose incomes are limited to a salary or wage do not usually incur expenses of a business nature, but are entitled to certain specific deductions authorized by law. For example, contributions may be deducted up to 10 per cent of net income before deducting these payments to non-profit religious organizations, and Wisconsin charmedical and hospital expenses, but also pays $200.00 per month when I am ill. May this premium be included when I itemize my deductions?

A. Only that portion of the premium that is applicable to the medical and hospital expense may be deducted.

Q. When is it better to itemize my deductions? I have always used the card Form 1A in reporting my state income taxes.

A. When filing Form 1A you are limited to the standard deduction of 10 per cent, or the new minimum deduction of $300. You may itemize your deductions only if you use the longer Form 1. You should consider itemizing your deductions if you had non-business interest, medical and dental expenses in excess of $65.00, casualty losses to non-business property, union or professional dues, alimony (not in excess of $800.00 per year) or forest crop land expenditures. If these deductions exceed 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income (computed on Page 2, Line 15, Form 1; you will save taxes by using Form 1 and "itemizing".

Q. My wife and I plan on making a sizable donation to our church. What procedure would you follow so that we might accomplish this end and save the most in taxes?

A. Since contributions are limited under the law to 10 per cent of net income before deducting not over $2,500.00 may be listed the donation, you might consider spreading the gift over a series of years. Make a computation not only the actual doctors' fees, toward the close of each year to but hospital, nursing and dental determine the amount you can services, as well as medical contribute on a fully deductible supplies. The full premiums basis. If you hold securities that paid on insurance policies pro have materially appreciated in value, transfer the stock or bond to your church. You at the office of Gustman Car List of deductible items, as well may deduct the fair market value as of the date of the transfer. When the church converts the asset into cash, you will not be taxed for the profit. The concerning legislative matters same procedure may be followed from 7 to 9 p.m.

lowed for other appreciated assets, for example, a lot, or a building.

Q. Why was a friend of mine denied the right to deduct certain donations? He tells me that a state auditor assessed him additional taxes, yet all of his donations were to organizations on the "approved list".

A. You probably refer to a listing of organizations considered deductible for federal purposes. While fully deductible on the U.S. return, only contributions to non-profit corporations, trust, community funds, or foundations operating within the state are deductible on the Wisconsin return. Your friend probably listed contributions to organizations which, though operating exclusively for charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, are not carrying on activities within the state.

Q. Our automobile insurance ran out and it cost me $245.00 to repair fender damages following an accident. May this be deducted as a casualty loss?

A. Yes, if the automobile is used in business since this would be considered a cost of operating the business. No, as a casualty loss if the vehicle is used for personal reasons. Casualty losses are limited to those due to theft or to the destruction of property if by fire, flood, or other casualty. Other personal losses are also denied under Wisconsin law, such as the overflow of a bathroom sink mentioned in the official instruction sheet.

Lawyer's Visit Denied; Man Freed of Charge

Accused of Tippy Driving; Court Dismisses Case

Acting Circuit Judge Gustave J. Keller today ruled constitutional rights were denied Leland H. Joannes, 71, Green Bay, and dismissed a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol against him.

Attorneys for Joannes, Urban Van Susteren and Edward Bollenbeck, both of Appleton, contended Joannes' attorney Fred Trowbridge, Green Bay, was not allowed to visit or talk to his client while Joannes was confined in the Outagamie County jail after his arrest by state police March 29, 1963.

Judge Keller ruled the client's rights were denied him when he was not allowed to confer with his attorney.

Joannes was arrested by State Patrolman William LaFave about 11:30 p.m. and accused of driving erratically on U. S. 41 north of Kaukauna. Taken to the Outagamie county jail, Joannes was examined by a doctor and given a breathalyzer test.

He then asked permission to call his attorney, and permission was granted. Joannes then was confined in a cell to await his attorney.

Trowbridge testified today when he arrived at the jail, he was denied permission by two jailers to see his client.

The two jailers on duty are no longer employed by the Outagamie County sheriff's department, and did not testify today.

The motion to dismiss the charge was brought before the court before a circuit court jury of 12 men had been picked to hear the case.

Joannes had pleaded innocent and requested a 12-man jury when he was arraigned in March, 1963.

Appleton Council to Review 1964 Street, Sewer Projects

$1.7 Million Bond Issue Raises Question of City's Finances

Street and sewer construction projects totaling $2.2 million will be given a second look by the common council.

The street-sanitation committee report, which includes all projects for 1964 approved by the council last fall, plus others added since, ran into trouble on the council floor Wednesday night.

As a result, Mayor Clarence Mitchell announced he would call a special meeting of the council to approve a final list of public works projects and get a report on the city's bonding and financial situation.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th) said he did not oppose the projects but told colleagues he was concerned over the upcoming bonding programs which have been mentioned.

$1.7 Million Bond Issue

The $2.2 million sewer-street construction program would require a $1.7 million bond issue. The city would recover about 80 per cent of the money on sanitary sewer assessments.

Tews said he was not opposed

Winnebago Miffed Over CAB Airport Decision

Froehlich Charges Committee With 'Misrepresentation'

City Attorney Takes Exception to Report Saying He Prepared Bills

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

City Atty. Frederick E. Froehlich took a swipe at the council's welfare-ordinance committee Wednesday night, charging it with misrepresentation in some of the ordinances submitted to aldermen.

Froehlich, the city's part-time legal counsel at $6,950 a year, took exception to part of the committee's report which read, "The following proposed ordinances as prepared by the city attorney be ordered published."

Referring to three items, Froehlich said, "I did not prepare or approve these ordinances."

Froehlich, whose relationship with the committee has been strained since it recommended weeks ago the position be full-time and appointive, instead of elective, said he had been disturbed for some time over alleged actions of the committee.

"High Time" "It's high time I speak up so you are not misled," Froehlich said. He is required to attend meetings of the committee but has no vote.

Froehlich said parts of the report "are not true and I am tired of having my name on them." He said reports should show who is drafting ordinances.

"If I draft an ordinance and something is wrong — fine," Froehlich said. However, he said he did not want to bear the brunt of someone else's mistakes.

Froehlich said one of the ordinances which would meter the city hall parking lot was, to his knowledge, held up at the last committee meeting, but appeared in the report before the council.

"In case you think I drafted it (the ordinance) it's not necessarily true," Froehlich said.

Froehlich also came in for criticism from a pair of aldermen.

Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th), committee secretary, told the council some of the matters being questioned by Froehlich had been on the council floor at the last meeting, but were sent back "because they were not properly written."

Mrs. Stillings said those ordinances had been prepared by Froehlich, and the committee made necessary changes and additions to get the items before the council again.

"I am sorry the ordinance concerning the parking lot did not go all the way back to the city attorney," Mrs. Stillings said. "One sentence was deleted which made the ordinance acceptable, and we brought it back in because this matter has been discussed now for four years."

Amendment Requested Mrs. Stillings said Froehlich had been requested to prepare amendments for the zoning ordinance and they were not before the council.

Froehlich is unopposed for re-election in the April 7 election. However, legislation changing going ahead with our new status of his office is expected to be introduced in the common council later this year. Froehlich once suggested hiring another part-time assistant, but Jack Steinhilber, son of E. G. this was turned down by the finance committee.

Ald. R. P. Groh, committee chairman, had one terse comment. "If the city attorney wants to wash dirty linen in public I'll help him," he said without elaboration.

Pass Rule Froehlich asked the council to pass a rule no ordinance be passed unless prepared or approved by the city attorney. No that there will be no change in the air service patterns for the entire state of Wisconsin."

"I would be happy to have this done," Mrs. Stillings said, "but let's have these (ordinances) come to us true and correct."

Ald. Harold Hannemann (10th), council president, asked if Froehlich had a chance to review all the ordinances in the report, and the attorney said he did not. The three items Froehlich questioned were referred to him.

In the meantime, the city hall lot remains "wide open" with parking on a first come, first serve basis. Motorists have no legal responsibility to pay parking fees in the lot.

Wisconsin Realtors Unit President to Speak in Appleton

Recommendation Field Be Built Near Neenah Makes Outagamie Happy

BY DICK LYNEIS Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Winnebago County sources appear to be miffed about Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner Edward T. Stodola's recommendation that a new regional airport be built near Neenah to serve the Appleton - Oshkosh area.

Outagamie County officials, on the other hand, are elated. E. G. Steinhilber, supervisor from Oshkosh's 12th Ward, said the end result of the North Central area regional airport investigation "is that a mountain of labor has brought forth a mouse."

Transfer Service Steinhilber's reference was directed at Stodola's report which near Neenah is not built, then present airport service should be transferred from the old to the new Outagamie County Airport, now under construction, and that Oshkosh should retain its present airline service.

He suggested that "perhaps the people of Winnebago County might want to put this question in a referendum at the April election." He added, "It would be interesting to see what the people think as an entire county unit."

Alvin Fulmer, Kimberly, chairman of the Outagamie County Board, called it "a good decision. It proves ours is a necessary facility."

"Now that Washington has gone along with our opinion, we all feel very enthusiastic about. However, legislation changing going ahead with our new airport project at the most rapid pace possible."

Echoes Views Winnebago County Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber, son of E. G. this was turned down by the finance committee.

"After tons and tons of paper work over the last year and half, we're left exactly where we started," the district attorney stated, "has been trying to encourage this thing for a long time. His recommendation saved him the agony of making a decision between the two camps unless prepared or approved by the city attorney. No that there will be no change in the air service patterns for the entire state of Wisconsin."

Steinhilber said "the fact that this done," Mrs. Stillings said, "but let's have these (ordinances) come to us true and correct."

The federal government will observe the holiday on Friday. However, the post offices will be open for business as usual Friday.

City Fathers Vote Terrors 'Success'

Basketball dribbled its way into Appleton Council proceedings Wednesday night.

The city's aldermen passed a motion by Ald. Robert Stumpf (9th) giving the Appleton High School Terrors the official blessing in their championship game at Manitowoc Friday night.

"Every success" — meaning victory, of course — was heaped on the cagers by the City Fathers.

Ald. R. P. Groh (8th) made an appropriate amendment, used in council circle to expedite proposals.

Appleton Requests WERB Fact-Finding In Teamster Dispute

Personnel Committee Chairman Says City, Union in Deadlock

The Appleton City Council has requested the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) for a fact-finding in its deadlock with Teamsters Local 563 over 1964 work agreements.

The council took action Wednesday night after receiving a recommendation from personnel committee chairman Ald. E. V. Krueger (11th).

"We have been meeting with the union but I must report that both sides are deadlocked," Krueger told the council.

The dispute over a 1964 contract centers around wages, some fringes and working conditions. The union asked for a blanket pay increase for hourly wage employees, and the city rejected the request. Some merit raises were granted to public works department employees. The union represents about 50 workers in the department.

File Petition Previously, the union filed a petition with WERB for fact-finding and suggested the city also consider mediation, which was declined. WERB had asked the parties to make another attempt to resolve differences before it would act on the union petition for a hearing.

With both sides now petitioning for fact-finding, it is expected WERB will order a hearing in the near future. Cost of fact-finding will be shared by the city and union.

The council, by a 16-1 vote, adopted work rules for the DPW hourly paid employees to be in effect until a contract is signed with the union. Slight revisions were made in the original rules adopted in 1960.

Ald. Al C. Fischer (15th) said he could not vote for something he did not have an opportunity to study, and suggested the matter be laid over for two weeks.

Rules in Effect The personnel committee said rules would have to be in effect until a contract is signed. "Un-

Federal Aid to Be Discussed

Educator Will Address Appleton Association

Kenneth I. Jonson of the National Education Association will discuss federal support for education at a meeting for Appleton Education Association members and guests at 8 p.m. Wednesday in James Madison Junior High School auditorium.

John R. Stevens, AEA program chairman, announced arrangements have been completed for the program. Jonson's talk is entitled "Fact vs. Fiction." A question period will follow his speech.

Jonson is the north central NEA representative from St. Paul, Minn.

The program was planned as a means of gaining further information on the pros and cons of local use of federal aids to education, according to the AEA. Because of high interest shown in the program topic, representatives of various community industries, businesses and organizations will be invited as AEA guests.

The Appleton Board of Education currently is considering revision of its policy of rejecting federal aid of all types. The policy was adopted in 1960.

Village Trying To Set Garbage Pick-Up Routes

LITTLE CHUTE — The street committee of the village board is attempting to work out a garbage collection route in the community which will make it possible for residents to be assured of having garbage collected at regular intervals, according to Edward Spierings, committee chairman.

All residents are asked to have garbage set at the curb on Monday mornings for the next month. Village crews will then keep track of how much of the village can be covered in a given day and which areas are collected on subsequent days. When a workable routine is established, residents will be notified as to what days collection will be held in the future.

The committee indicated, a month's trial was necessary before a true picture could be had of the procedure to follow.

Steels, Motors Lead Market

Stocks Showing Irregular Sales And Advances

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market clung to an irregular advance early this afternoon in moderate trading.

Steels, motors and rubbers continued the leadership they showed in Wednesday's market, but most gains were slight.

Caution prevailed in view of the long weekend ahead. Stock exchanges will be closed Friday in observance of Washington's birthday.

The rise in durable goods in January provided encouragement but not enough to stir the market from its dawdling performance of recent sessions.

Rails also put on a relatively strong performance while tobacco, building materials and nonferrous metals were mixed.

The trend was slightly lower among chemicals, aerospace issues and airlines.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .2 to 295.0 with industrials up .3, rails up .5 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .04 at 794.95.

Both averages were above their latest closing records established last week.

On the American Stock Exchange, airlines paced an irregular advance in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to lower.

Clintonville Creates Plan Commission

Mayor, 7 Others Are Appointed As First Members

CLINTONVILLE — An or- dnanee creating a city plan com- mission was adopted by the common council at a special meeting Tuesday night.

The commission will consist of the mayor as presiding off- icer, the director of public works, the president of the park board, an alderman and three citizens.

Mayor Frank Sinkewicz ex- plained that with the city plan- ning to go into the 701 federal aid program, a city planning commission was necessary.

Council confirmed Mayor Sin- kewicz's appointments to the planning commission. Ald. Evan Hedtke, vice chairman; Fred Beckman, chairman of the park board; Basil Arvey, director of public works, secretary, and Herbert Hansen, one year mem- ber-at-large. Kenneth Luehke, two years, and Walter Mantin, three years, were confirmed ap- pointees.

Following passage of the or- dnanee creating the planning commission, council passed a resolution that the city request the Department of Resource De- velopment make application to the Housing and Home Finance Agency for Urban Planning As- sistance.

The city will provide one-third of the cost of the proposed plan- ning work and provide for a continuing planning program, the resolution said.

requested by Supv. Al C Fischer, Appleton 15th, to prepare the report so the statistics can be examined in a March session by Outagamie County Board of Supervisors.

Fischer also called for a re- view of money spent by county police over two years for uniforms. That study still is be- ing conducted by the traffic committee.

County police patrolled 885,383 miles in the two year period under study. Amounts of damage claims and the amounts recovered in the accidents by the county's insurance carriers were not included in the report, but the figures are expected to be included in the report to the supervisors.

County and Examiner Stodola. Elmer Steinhilber pointed out that his reactions were based only on a two paragraph story which appeared in the Wednes- day edition of the Oshkosh news- paper. The highlights of Stodo- la's recommendations were read to him this morning by a Post- Crescent reporter.

"On the basis of your report," he said, "I feel that we have wound up with practically nothing more than we had before on a statewide picture. "Same Thing" "The idea was to cut down service and combine stops and here we wind up with practi- cally the same thing we had. "We still maintained," he said, "that we have a regional airport here in Oshkosh. Stodola's recommendations were not based upon the criteria set forth for the original study. It was supposed to take in Fond du Lac, Green Lake and Wau- shara counties, but he only in- cluded Winnebago and Outaga- mie."

Steinhilber said it is "prema- ture" to state whether Stodola's remarks may reopen the possi- bility of regional airport talks between the two counties.

"I don't preclude anything as a possibility . . . we've got to give this Neenah site some thought in view of his (Stodo- la's) report.

"Open Mind" "I shall approach this with an open mind, but remember, I feel very deeply that we have a good airport and that Apple- ton should have joined us in promoting it from the start."

Fulcer said that on the basis of the report, "I don't think there's any question but that the majority of future North Cen- tral Airlines stops will have to be at the Outagamie Airport."

"Even if our new airport had been a joint project, the loca- tion still would have been good, because its only two or three miles from the vicinity for a joint airport that Stodola is talk- ing about.

1964 Basis

"If they (Winnebago) wish to sit down and talk regional air- port with us now, we'll have to talk on the basis of 1964, not 1960 when we first approached them."

"But," he asked, "Would it be advisable for us to cancel our project and move two or three miles to the south? All of this points to a site near Neenah and that's where we are. Now its merely a matter of economics."

Joseph Drexler, chairman of the Winnebago County Board, said, "I have no comment to make at this time since we don't have any details. Mr. (Robert) Lester, our Washington attor- ney, is in Puerto Rico."

Only Proper Names Used In This New Word Game

BY CAPPY DICK

Today's game for boys and girls is a variation of the old-timer called "Third of a Ghost." The main difference is that this new version is played with proper names, whereas the old game forbids the use of proper names. In the illustration the young people are lined up to play my version. Dolly has started by using the letter "F." She has in mind a proper name that be-

Sam, having in mind a name that begins with "F," adds "R." Ethel, suspecting the name might be "Frank," adds "A." Andy, also figuring the name might be Frank or Frances, adds "N." But Suzy, the next player, knows that if she adds "K," completing "Frank," she will have to drop out of the game as her penalty. So she decides to say "C."

Mary, the next player, fails to grasp the direction Suzy has given to the game. She can't think of a proper name suited to the spelling "Franc," so she says, "I challenge Suzy." This means Suzy must be able to tell what the proper name is, or be caught bluffing and thus be penalized. Suzy has been smart, however, and shouts "Francine" as being the name she had in mind. Mary's challenge having failed, she must drop out of the game. Dolly starts the next round by starting a new name, this time with the letter "G." The last player remaining in the game is the winner.

Marciano Says Fast Liston KO Might Jeopardize Boxing

MONTREAL (AP) — Rocky Marciano, former heavyweight champion, expressed concern Wednesday night about what would happen to boxing if Sonny Liston should quickly dispose of Cassius Clay in their heavyweight title fight next Tuesday night in Miami Beach, Fla.

"I'm worried about what's going to happen after that fight," he said. "There's nobody around to fight him. Boxing may be going around the bend."

Marciano was guest speaker at the 31st annual awards dinner of the Montreal Sportsmen's Association.

He picked champion Liston to win by a knockout in the sixth round. "If it goes past the sixth round, I'll take 4-1 on Clay."

Biggest Problem Marciano, 40, who retired undefeated seven years ago, said that he can't fight in close but Liston will come out in the first round and be a real wild man.

He said Liston's weakness is that he can't fight in close but Marciano doubted that the inexperienced Clay could take advantage of this Clay has had 19 professional bouts.

"How could he possibly know what to do when the going gets rough?" asked Marciano.

Marciano had nothing but praise for the 21-year-old Clay, describing him as the "fastest thing on two feet, dedicated, hard-working and, believe it or not, a clean-living boy."

Redskins Hire Denver's Hughes As Coaching Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coach Bill McPeak reached into the "other league" today to hire a defensive backfield coach for the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

He signed Ed Hughes, who held the same job last fall with the Denver Broncos of the rival American Football League.

Hughes had coached the defensive backfield for another AFL team, the Dallas Texans, three seasons before that.

However, Hughes' playing experience was all in the NFL. The first with the Los Angeles Rams, vaulting and tumbling group is composed of boys and girls. Their performance includes use of a mini-trampoline and a spring board.

Vikings Face Ripon Friday

College Ave. camp indicate that he will be ready to go all-out.

Joel Ungrodt, the Vikes' top pointmaker and tied for second individually in the conference, will be called upon to shake the defensive net of Ripon's Jim Cahoon. Cahoon held Ungrodt to 13 points in the last meeting between the two. Ungrodt is hitting at a 21.3 per game clip.

Rounding out the starting lineup for Lawrence will be Gordon Bond and Steve Nault or Rick Kroos. Nault is suffering from a pulled back muscle and may not be available.

The big difference in the previous encounter a month ago was the defensive ability of Cahoon. Cahoon is rated as the top ballhawk in the loop by most opposing coaches.

Starting Lineup Coach Kermit "Doc" Weiske's hosts will open with Mevis, Alexander, and Jack Ankerson in the front line with Doug Ankerson and Cahoon in backcourt roles.

The Viking defense will have to key on three big point-producers in Mevis, Ankerson and Cahoon. Mevis boasts a 21.3 average with Jack Hitting 18.8 per tilt. Cahoon owns a 16.9 average.

Alexander, while not ranked among the leaders, is capable of a 20-plus night, and usually enjoys peak performances against the intra-state rival.

Ripon's biggest weakness, if any, is its bench strength. Foul trouble could prove costly to the co-defending Midwest champs.

VanderKelen Loses Zest for Scrambling

Says Vikings Will Finish First or Second in 1964

MADISON (AP) — Former Wisconsin signal caller Ron VanderKelen, who starred in college as a scrambling quarterback, says that after one season in the National Football League he's found that's a reckless kind of existence.

The Preble, Wis., native, who played last season with the Minnesota Vikings, said (Coach Norm) "Van Brocklin doesn't believe in scrambling and I don't either, any more. I found out after running a few times."

VanderKelen, who has returned to the University of Wisconsin to complete work for a bachelor of science degree, said he also found out other things in his rookie NFL season, including that he still had things to learn.

Most of last season VanderKelen sat on the bench and watched.

Injured Early However, when Viking starting quarterback Fran Tarkenton was injured early in the game, VanderKelen came off the bench to lead Minnesota to a 17-3 half-time lead in the clash that ended in a 17-17 tie.

The performance earned him a starting role in the season finale against Philadelphia's Eagles and VanderKelen directed the Vikings to a 34-13 victory.

"I was most satisfied with the Eagles game," VanderKelen said. "Naturally, I was pleased with the Bear game but not with the outcome. We beat the Eagles. In the Bear game I found out I wasn't as good as I thought I was."

Looking to next season, VanderKelen said, "With a little luck I think we'll finish first or second. The (Green Bay) Packers will be hurt with Forrest Gregg and Bill Forester gone. The Bears won't repeat. They have a good defense, but you can't win consistently in the NFL without a strong offense."

His confidence, VanderKelen was quick to say, comes from League he's found that's a reckless kind of existence.

Asked if it were correct that Van Brocklin says, "Vandy is a candy," VanderKelen said, "He always says that. I don't think he knows my full name."

VanderKelen said his ancestors were Belgian, but Van Brocklin always refers to him as a Dutchman.

Pitt Whips Temple DePaul Tips Bonnies For First Time, 81-76

BY TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
"If we had to lose to DePaul it's just as well we got beat now instead of in the NIT."
Maybe Larry Weise, coach of the St. Bonaventure college basketball team, didn't say those words Wednesday night, but he might have after the Bonnies lost to DePaul for the first time ever, 81-76.
It was a sort of preview of a possible rematch in next month's National Invitation Tournament. DePaul, ninth-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, had been named earlier this week.
The Blue Demons, beaten by the Bonnies 71-67 last season and in three other previous games, withstood a late rally by the Bonnies before 4,265 at their Alumni Gym in Chicago.
Behind by 11 points the Bonnies surged to within three points at 77-74 with two minutes left, but couldn't get any closer as DePaul converted four straight free throws.
Fred Crawford with 25 points, nine of them in the late rally, led the boys from Olean, N.Y. Dave Mills topped DePaul with 22.
In another game involving tourney-bound teams, Pitt, in the NIT, whipped Temple, in the NCAA, 78-67. Louisville, also in the NCAA, humbled St. Francis, Pa., 84-70.
Ohio Univ. edged Miami of Ohio 63-60 for the lead in the Mid-American Conference and Penn State defeated West Virginia 86-76 for its eighth straight victory in other games on the slim national program.

Bowling Tips BY DON CARTER AND MARION LADEWIG

For Strike Power
Is this how your arm looks after you've delivered the ball? It should. Follow-through is an important part of bowling, for it adds the strike power. If you are merely slinging the ball, you will find yourself staring at difficult spares frame after frame.

There is nothing complicated about follow-through. Just make up your mind that letting the ball go is merely any of the things you will do while reaching to the roof. That's how effortless the release should be.

Lions Nip All-Stars In YMCA Cage Duel
Lions, champions of the YMCA grade school loop, outlasted the All-Stars, 32-31, in an overtime battle.
Jim Jernagen and Jeff Lautenschlager coined 11 and nine points for the victors, with teammates Scott Nehs and Steve Jernagen chipping in six apiece.
Steve Schlanser and Charles Lhost paced the Stars with 13 and eight.

The showdown between the co-leaders (both 10-1 in the league) overshadowed all other action carded for the FRVC's double round of play this week-end—or for the entire season, for that matter.

In other Friday games, it will be third-place Oshkosh at Fond du Lac and intricacy skirmishes in both Green Bay and Sheboygan.

Two battles head Saturday night's agenda: Fond du Lac invades Appleton and Manitowoc travels to Oshkosh. Rounding out the slate are the West-at-North and South—at-East games.

The Fondy-Terror game in the AHS gym will be moved up one-half hour to a 7:45 p.m. starting time. The junior varsity game will start at 6:15.

The stakes will be high in Manitowoc. AHS is shooting for its first FRVC title in four years (the Terrors shared 1959-60 honors with Sheboygan South) and its first unchallenged crown in seven seasons.

Manitowoc is equally anxious to succeed, since the league title is the only major bauble to escape the ships last year in their state championship march.

The 1962-63 Ships lost their first-place battle with Green Bay West and finished at 12-2, one game behind the Wildcats.

Has 13-2 Record Appleton, rated No. 7 in the state, takes a 13-2 record into the game. Manitowoc, ranked 14th, has boosted its record to 11-3 with its 6-win streak.

The Terrors have won all seven of their home starts and six of eight road games (losing at Kimberly and Oshkosh). Manitowoc has been beaten only once at home—in overtime by Menasha, the state's No. 4 quintet.

Thus far, the Dick Emanuel-coached Terrors have shown more poise than the Ships against "rated" teams. AHS has beaten two teams (Menasha and Manitowoc) on the "Big 16" while losing to fifth-rated Kimberly. The Ships have dropped all three of their assignments against "Big 16" teams—Appleton, Menasha and Kimberly.

The Jim Dietrich-coached Ships are blasting away at a conference—record breaking pace of 82.6 points per game—yet have had three close calls since their game in Appleton. They had to go an extra period to edge Oshkosh; they beat Green Bay West by four points; and they outlasted East by three points.

Only two of Appleton's 11 league games have gone to the wire for a decision. The Terrors lost by three points to Oshkosh and beat West by four.

The first AHS-Manty skirmish was glove-tight for three quarters. Then, in the fourth period, the Terrors broke from a 53-52 deficit to score 15 straight points without retaliation. The 12-point victory ended an AHS losing streak in the Ship series at seven straight.

Brian Bock led AHS with 21 points, while Bruce Miller and Chuck McKee added 19 and 14, respectively. It was the outstanding performance of his varsity career.

Manitowoc scoring, in Appleton, was paced by Bill Schwartz (20 points). Dave Jansson (19) and Bob Sullivan (13). Schwartz filled in with distinction for regular center Bill Buerstater, who was ill.

Appleton's defensive record is by far the league's best—with an allowance of only 53.3 points per game. By contrast, the Terrors' 71.6 average ranks 11 points behind.

Sullivan and Jansson will give the Terror defenders another severe test. They rank 2-3 in the FRVC, with averages of 23.7 and 21.2 respectively. East's Pat Harrington leads the chase with a total of 263 points, only two more than Sullivan.

Ranks Fourth Bock ranks fourth in the circuit, with a 19.7 pace. AHS' Gary Hietpas holds down the 12th spot in the circuit with a 13.5 average. Appleton's Neil Weber is nearing a double-figure average after a slow start. His current pace is 9.5.

Against Fond du Lac, AHS scored an 82-44 victory last month. Bock's 26 points led the third-quarter spurt that put Sanway, Dick Pitzner, No. 7 scorer, Francisco ahead to stay. High in the league, led Fondy with 17.

FRVC scoring: Harrington, GB East 92; Sullivan, Manitowoc 91; Jansson, Manitowoc 89; Bock, Appleton 84; Rein, GB East 84; Wood, Oshkosh 73; Pitzner, Fond du Lac 71; Jensen, North 70; Strasser, Oshkosh 64; Schider, North 60; Wegener, Oshkosh 65; Hietpas, Appleton 52; Zuelzer, GB West 44; Quelf, GB West 43; Malone, Oshkosh 42; Witting, GB West 44; Bergstrom, Fond du Lac 42; Laack, North 41; Wooten, Fond du Lac 41; Garton, North 38; Kramer, Manitowoc 35; Sosinski, Fond du Lac 32; Essler, South 25; Simenz, South 36.

Warriors Stop Cincinnati Win Streak at 12

Knicks, Detroit Also Post Victories; Baltimore Defeated

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Francisco's championship-minded Warriors are receiving valuable aid from a couple of highly unexpected sources.

The Warriors have moved further ahead of their two Western Division challengers, the past two nights, thanks to the National Basketball Association's cellar teams—New York and Detroit. San Francisco now leads second-place St. Louis by two games and third-place Los Angeles by 5½ games.

The Warriors stopped Cincinnati's 12-game winning streak 108-101 Wednesday night while last-place New York of the Eastern Division outscored St. Louis 120-114 and last-place Los Angeles 116-115.

New York sneaked by Los Angeles Tuesday night 118-117. In the other NBA game, Wednesday night Philadelphia, the Terror defenders whipped Baltimore 130-122.

Philadelphia used an unusual defensive maneuver in halting the league's longest winning streak of the season, Wayne Hightower, who normally plays up front, guarded Oscar Robertson, a backcourt man.

Robertson still scored 29 points, not a bad night even for the Royals' ace, but the move helped the Warriors' defense.

Nevertheless, the Royals recovered sufficiently in time to take a 59-57 halftime lead. High-scoring last year, however, sparked a month. Bock's 26 points led the third-quarter spurt that put Sanway, Dick Pitzner, No. 7 scorer, Francisco ahead to stay. High in the league, led Fondy with 17.

FRVC scoring: Harrington, GB East 92; Sullivan, Manitowoc 91; Jansson, Manitowoc 89; Bock, Appleton 84; Rein, GB East 84; Wood, Oshkosh 73; Pitzner, Fond du Lac 71; Jensen, North 70; Strasser, Oshkosh 64; Schider, North 60; Wegener, Oshkosh 65; Hietpas, Appleton 52; Zuelzer, GB West 44; Quelf, GB West 43; Malone, Oshkosh 42; Witting, GB West 44; Bergstrom, Fond du Lac 42; Laack, North 41; Wooten, Fond du Lac 41; Garton, North 38; Kramer, Manitowoc 35; Sosinski, Fond du Lac 32; Essler, South 25; Simenz, South 36.

The Highway Bonding Referendum

Wisconsin voters cannot be blamed if they are confused by the referendum question they will be asked to answer on highway bonding in the April election. The proposition is a vague one. And this in part may explain the lethargy public opinion has evidenced on the matter so far.

In effect the legislature is asking the voters of this state whether they would be willing to be taxed an additional cent per gallon on gasoline in order to provide more funds for highway construction. The results of the referendum are purely advisory to the legislature.

The average voter will ask, How will the money be spent? or What benefits could I expect?

Governor Reynolds brought the issue to a head last year when he asked the legislature to authorize bonding for more rapid highway construction. He believes the greatest need is for speedier interstate highway construction and he suggests such expressways will bring more business to the state.

Unfortunately the question immediately took on political hues. It was obvious the governor was searching for a new program to include in his campaign for reelection. And when he called the Republican-controlled legislature back into special session to enact such a program, the Republicans took the stratagem at face political value and sidestepped it by calling for an advisory referendum.

In order to properly evaluate the question we must recall that it has been Wisconsin highway policy for many years to give priority to the construction of a fine network of rural farm-to-market roads to aid the state's perishable dairy product industry. Chairman Harvey Graese of the Highway Commission has mentioned on occasion that the times may demand a change in this emphasis and that a larger portion of the funds available for highway work should now be allocated to major highways.

The legislature in submitting this question to the people has not said how it would spend the additional money should the additional tax be approved. No projection of future policy has been outlined.

Here in the Fox Cities, for example, there is great need for an expressway serving the eastern and southern borders of our metropolitan area, and a costly bridge, probably across Little Lake Buttes des Morts, linking such an expressway with Highway 41. Would the millions of dollars needed for such a project become available out of the new tax monies to be raised? We have no answer to that question.

As a matter of fact one proposal for additional interstate expressway construction in the state outlined a route generally along the shore of Lake Michigan from Milwaukee to Green Bay and then swinging west to Wausau and the Twin Cities, a route which would skip the Fox Cities completely. We may assume from this thinking that we in this area would have to be voting for the good of the state as a whole rather than for any area considerations if we approved of the referendum.

There is fear among state authorities that if this referendum is defeated in April it will put back highway progress in the state for many years. This opinion holds that if the referendum is defeated the legislature will be fearful of proceeding with any plan to boost highway construction over present limits.

We do not believe that the legislature should so interpret a defeat. For the proposition they have offered is so vague that the voters cannot be presumed to be making a clear-cut policy decision in the matter.

The Defection of Nossenko

The intriguing inner workings of international espionage only infrequently come into public view as in the case of the defection of Yuri Nossenko, the ranking Russian secret police official on duty with the Soviet disarmament delegation in Geneva who requested asylum in the United States.

A man like Nossenko must have strong motivations for wanting to flee for he will live under the constant threat of being assassinated. It is reported that two high-level Soviet officials have suddenly "died" since Nossenko defected. Dead under mysterious circumstances are Pavel Zernov and V. V. Borisoglebski, both of whom were superiors of Nossenko and responsible for his promotion in the Russian secret police. And Nossenko himself now is said to be the target of Soviet security police agents operating in this country.

We can only speculate what valuable information Nossenko will be able to give American intelligence authorities. But he might well know the details of the Russian secret police file on Lee Harvey Oswald and his widow, Marina. He may have data on Russia's nuclear weapons production and whether the Soviet has cheated on the nuclear test ban treaty.

As one intelligence officer commented, "Nossenko can give us the information to determine if the U. S. acted wisely in signing the nuclear test ban treaty. He can reveal how right or wrong our policies toward Russia have been during the past four or five years."

The Russian foreign office demanded the right to interview Nossenko after he had been taken to Washington and this demand was granted. In the presence of an American representative he declared he had defected of his own free will.

It is significant that Moscow was reserved in its denunciation of the United States over the case. The Reds refrained from charging that he was "kidnaped." They probably did so in the knowledge that the next time it may be their turn, for the West has also had defections to Russia.

Espionage is a mysterious game, and while we have won this round it has not always been so.

Are You For or Against Burton?

Richard Burton may temporarily be the symbol of all that is ideal in manhood to Elizabeth Taylor, but he doesn't enjoy this popularity among many American mothers. They have deluged Congressmen with mail protesting the granting of a U. S. visa to Burton so that he can appear in Hamlet in Boston and New York.

Rep. Michael Feighan, the Democrat from Ohio, is demanding that the State Department revoke the visa. And President Johnson has turned the problem over to Secretary of State Rusk and Attorney General Kennedy with a request for speedy action.

Representative Feighan says his mail is running 40 to 1 against Burton's being allowed to enter this country. "One cannot escape the conclusion that the constant flaunting of immoral behavior by widely publicized public figures creates in the minds of many the false concept that immorality is a public virtue," declared the Congressman.

If Eddie Fisher can settle up with Miss Taylor on their divorce arrangements, and the two lovebirds of Cleopatra can be married, the whole problem may be solved for the State Department. It is inconceivable that once married Miss Taylor will remain with Burton very long. And then he could rejoin his divorced wife in New York.

Washington Residents Get Vote

For the first time in its 162-year history as an incorporated city, residents of the District of Columbia will vote in this fall's presidential election. Extending suffrage to district residents was authorized in the 23rd Amendment to the Constitution adopted in 1961.

The city is now in the midst of the huge problem of registering eligible voters. A total of 91 voting precincts have been set up and 364 aides have been hired to answer the questions of inexperienced voters.

Only about 100,000 persons are expected to register from the 500,000 people of voting age living in the city. Thousands still maintain their voting residence in their home towns. Lack of local contests lessens the attraction to register. Thousands of federal employees are subject to the Hatch Act forbidding participation in political activities, and while this does not forbid registration or voting many are still reluctant to do so.

An older woman who registered recently said she didn't know if she was a Republican or a Democrat. A 109-year-old man said he wanted to belong to "Mr. Roosevelt's party."

It's a strange new world for residents of the District. But after 162 years, it's about time they learned how to vote.

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 13, 1864.

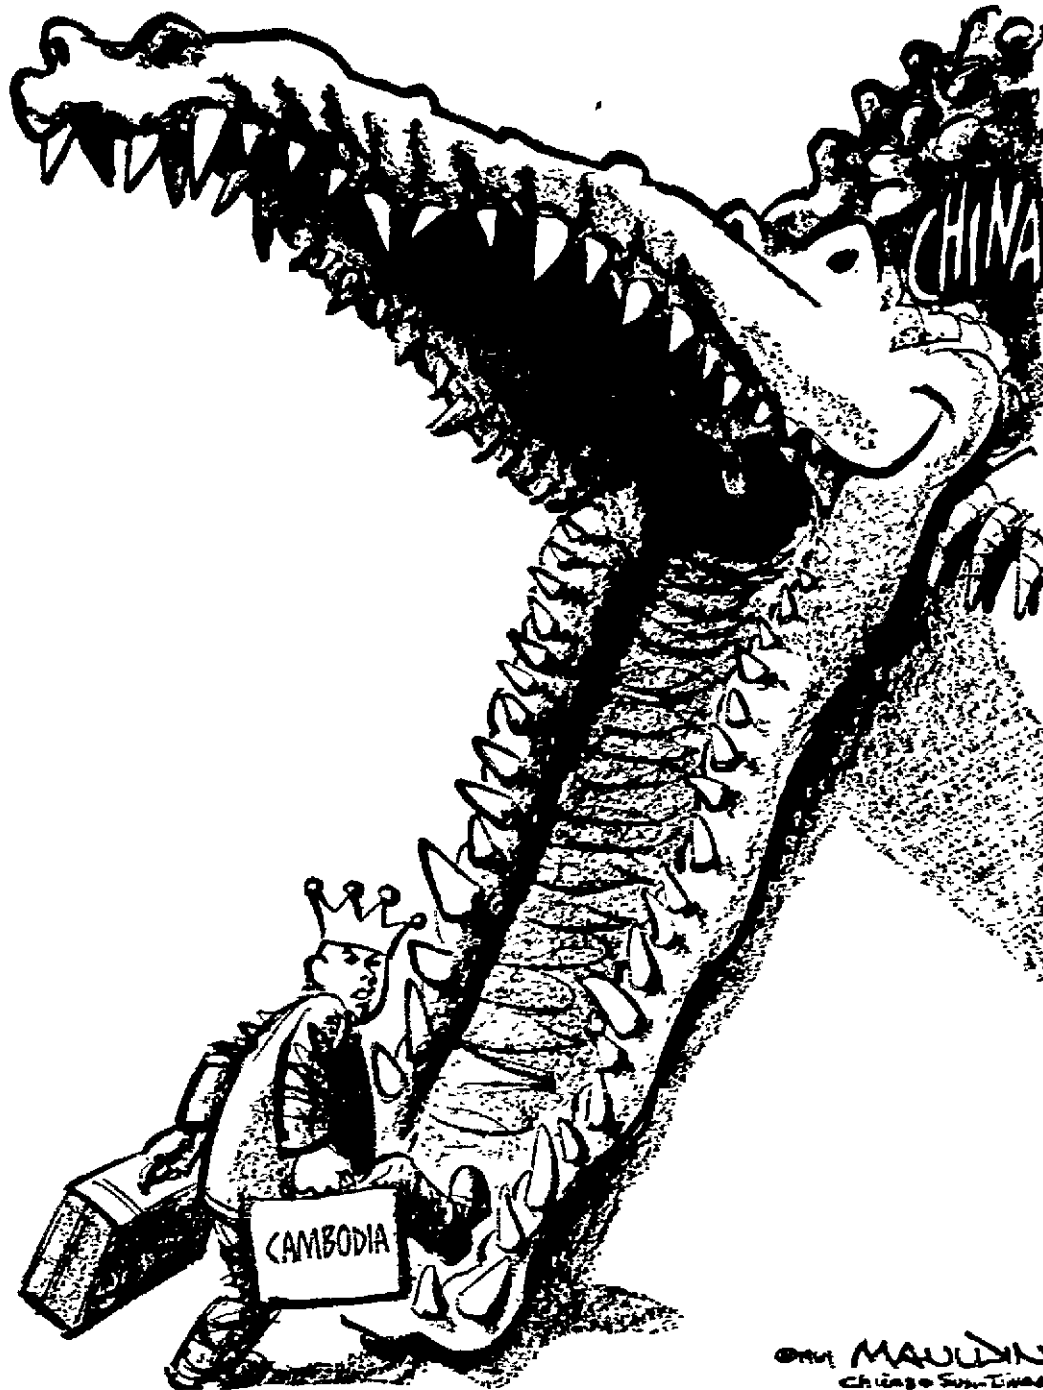

On Friday evening of last week, Mr. Jared Thompson, of Milwaukee, pronounced a beautiful eulogy on the character of the late lamented Capt. Louis G. Strong, a fellow classmate at Lawrence University, well known to our citizens, and who was killed at the terrible assault of the heights of Fredericksburg on the 3d of May last, while gallantly leading his men to victory.

Mr. Thompson, from his intimate acquaintance and matured friendship with the deceased while they were students here together, is eminently well qualified to present a just tribute to the memory of the gallant Strong. (Capt. Strong was with the 5th Regiment, Wisconsin Volunteers) That he acquitted himself nobly, let his earnest, heart-felt effort bear attestation.

Previous to pronouncing the eulogy, Mr. Thompson delivered an address before the Phoenix Society on "Franklin as a Model Man." Mr. Thompson is a growing young man of good talents and energy. He

Need More Research in Social Aspects of Care of Retarded

Editor, Post-Crescent:

May I point out to Mrs. Liebl whose letter you published Sunday, Feb. 16, that Mrs. Pierson did not suggest that most of the retarded should be institutionalized although if she read the headline rather than the letter she may have had that impression? I think she suggested that most of those who are institutionalized are not so placed capriciously but through need.

experts quoted in Mrs. Liebl's letter who are often countered by other experts and who are in any case out of context, we might do well to support more good research in the social aspects of care of the retarded. The report of the President's Panel on Mental Retardation suggests for example that many of those "identified" as retarded have normal or near-normal capacity to learn but have been educationally and/or culturally deprived. It warns us too that elation over success in teaching some of the apparently retarded has sometimes led to overoptimism and failure when it leads to the idea that super-effort will be further rewarded. We have only to remember the follies that have been perpetrated in the name of progressive education to become cautious about wholesale and possibly misapplied use of basically good ideas. While we try to learn more about the problems of the retarded I think we must continue to provide good institutional care for those who need it.

Mrs. Liebl is quite correct in saying that Northern and Southern Colonies are overcrowded. They are staffed by some remarkably understanding people working under considerable handicaps and for whom we need be grateful. We should provide better working conditions for their sakes as well as for their charges.

Rosemary Kennedy lives in a building staffed with professional help and supported with her own family's funds, generously given. She is located where she has an otherwise unavailable opportunity to communicate with people who understand her and whom she understands. This is an opportunity her family, with all its obvious affection, could not give her. Hers is nevertheless not a home as most of us use the word. It is more nearly an overstuffed private institution.

We have not yet even estimated the costs of providing in the community adequately for the retarded. The cost of providing training for the severely retarded, day care centers, sheltered workshops, and parental relief services will be high. For those for whom these arrangements are the best solution for an inherently unsatisfactory situation, we should provide them. I doubt that economy will in the long run be the reason.

Homeowner Receives Tax Rebate for Damage by Termites

CHICAGO (AP) — A homeowner received a tax rebate for termite damage to his home when a federal court judged it a "casualty loss."

The owner's house was razed on the advice of a pest control expert, and he had to burn it down. The owner was paid $21,000.

Termites had done their work within the short period of five months during 1956.

Federal tax law requires that in order to deduct a casualty loss on income tax returns, the loss must have an element of "suddenness" such as fires, storms and shipwrecks. Commerce Clearing House, a tax authority, said.

Constitutional Query On April Ballot Very Important for Future

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—The first fruit of the state constitutional revision commission which has been at work for the last three years will be put before the people of Wisconsin in the elections on April 7.

Having been approved by the last two legislatures, the proposal to permit the listing of more than one inter-related constitutional change in a single constitutional amendment in the future is being submitted for ratification in a referendum vote.

The issue may appear to be academic to many voters. Sometimes in such situations the uncertain tend to cast a negative vote. Justice Thomas E. Fairchild of the state supreme court, chairman of the group which is advising the legislature on constitutional revision, and other persons are aware of that hazard and are trying to encourage an informed electoral response.

As he has put it, "this is particularly important in attempting to revise all portions of the constitution dealing with a particular subject. The present rule limits the scope of the amendment too narrowly."

Judge Fairchild recently told a professional group that the change, technical as it may appear to the laity, "will be an important building block for sound constitutional revision and I hope that it will receive a yes vote."

EXAMPLE

A convenient example of the situation to which the pending amendment would apply is the changing of the law on the terms of elective state officials. There is a visibly growing support for the idea of lengthening the term of the governor, especially, and most persons would probably agree that if such action is taken the terms of other elective state constitutional officials could reasonably be lengthened also.

But as the constitution is now interpreted, it would require five separate proposals, and five separate proceedings in two succeeding legislative sessions, and the ratification of five separate amendments on five referendum ballots, to achieve the change.

It should be emphasized that the question of length of term is not on the ballot this year. That issue remains before the Legislature, where the assembly will probably take it up when the Legislature reconvenes in the spring.

It is pertinent to observe, meanwhile, that the constitutional revision commission has approached its task with an objective and moderate outlook, as befits the dignity and stature of its members.

The commission has been content to reflect and to study at a leisurely pace. Perhaps most of its suggestions thus will have the backing of a majority of the thoughtful citizens of the state — when they are formally submitted for political endorsement.

NOT OBSOLETE

This has been in reassuring contrast to the pleas in earlier years of more impetuous reformers who appeared to want to junk the constitution altogether on the ground that because it was more than a century old it was necessarily out of date altogether.

Judge Fairchild will attract the sympathetic interest of responsible persons more quickly with the theme he presented recently to the Milwaukee Junior Bar Association.

The state constitution does not need to be wholly rewritten, he said. "Happily, although our constitution is one of the oldest in the nation, and although it has often been amended, it has escaped being filled with confusion, conflict and unnecessary detail."

It will be amended again when the need is shown, and in the deliberative fashion with which the state has become familiar.

Strictly Personal

Those Afraid to Die Most Afraid to Live

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: People who are superficial usually miss the deeper causes of the conditions they analyze, but people who are profound often commit the opposite error of ignoring the accidents and a precariousness of events, and making a System out of what is merely a fortuitous combination of circumstances.

Nine-tenths of what the human race grandly calls "history" is, at bottom, just criminality on a large scale; the real history of mankind — which consists of the ideas that have slowly changed men's minds — is confined to footnotes in the textbooks.

One of life's most exquisite minor pleasures for parents is spending a country weekend as a house-guest, hearing a young child crying early in the morning, realizing it is not yours, smiling sweetly, and turning over to sleep again.

Wives who bitterly blame their husbands for being "weak" never blame themselves for having chosen weakness: "I was deceived," they may say — but, in matters of the heart, no one is deceived; we deceive ourselves.

A psychological paradox: those who are most afraid to die are most afraid to live. It is easier to forgive someone who injures us than someone who does us no harm but regards us with polite contempt; we can grudgingly respect power, but we can only resent the cool assumption of superiority.

Scientists who are impatient with all non-facts should read and reflect carefully upon the words of Whitehead, one of the great thinkers of our time, who warned that: "In the study of ideas, it is necessary to remember that insistence on hardheaded clarity issues from sentimental feeling, as it were a mist, cloaking the perplexities of fact. Insistence on clarity at all costs is based on sheer superstition as to the mode in which human intelligence functions."

One of the most malevolent and vulgar of traits is to encourage the confidences of those in whom we have little interest, and for whose problems we have no solutions; it is reprehensible to ask to look at a wound we have neither the ability nor the willingness to bandage.

Murder mysteries are so perennially popular because they enable us to satisfy two needs at the same time: to discharge our aggressive tendencies by vicariously murdering someone and to assuage our conscience by seeing the murderer captured and punished. Mysteries are the classic literary example of having our cake and eating it, too.

IT'S ECONOMIC PRESSURE THAT SENDS WOMEN TO WORK! RIGHT ☐ WRONG ☐

Right. One out of every 10 men are — to earn a living for families in the United States are themselves and for their families headed by women. Many of the lies. When are men most apt to be by the death of their husbands happy? or by divorce. Others are the Under 30 — Over 70 — sole support of their aging parents. Under 30 years of age, according to a recent pilot study by young women who have left the National Opinion Research home and moved to the city to Center. Dr. Norman Bradburn get jobs and find a husband, found fewer older men rating wind up only with their work themselves as happy than did Most women are in the labor men under 30. Three times as force for the same reason that many men over 70 said they were "not too happy" than did the men under 30 in this study. Unhappiness increased with age. We wonder if maybe older men are more realistic about their lives? Or perhaps they have given up hope and lost touch with the things and people that bring happiness.

Chicago Police Find Large Money Cache

11 Policy Presses and 2 Policy Wheels Also Seized

CHICAGO (AP)—Police found a fortune in cash in the South Side home of a reputed gambling operator Wednesday night and then assigned 10 men to a marathon search that reached an estimated $750,000 by midmorning today.

Eleven policy presses, two policy wheels, a quantity of type, five pistols, a shotgun, a rifle and two check-writing machines also were found in the home of Lawrence Wakefield, 60, who died Wednesday night in a hospital of a heart attack.

Police identified Wakefield as a policy game operator for three decades.

The windows to the house were barred and five watchdogs padded about the premises, police said.

The money, mostly $10 and $20 bills with a few $50s and $100's, was found in a bedroom.

One policeman who saw the money said he almost fainted when he opened the bedroom door.

"It was everywhere, all over the room—everywhere but on the ceiling!" he exclaimed.

The money was scattered all over the place, on the floor, on the bed, in shopping bags, wrapped in rolls or loose.

The count was made by 10 policemen under the supervision of Lt. William Marshall of the Recovered Property Section.

Three other policemen from the Internal Investigations Division also were observers.

The strange episode started Tuesday morning when Mrs. Rose Kennedy, 66, summoned a at W. W. Dyer, 48, of Dallas, lodged in a small handbag carried by D. A. Peterson of Park Ridge, Ill. Both men were walking to board a 4:45 p.m. flight to Chicago.

Dyer's wife shoved the woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Stone, 47, to the floor, police said, as she tried to shoot again and the weapon jammed. An airline employee wrested the 32-caliber automatic pistol from Mrs. Stone.

McLendon, a candidate for U.S. senator in Texas Democratic primary May 6, described the incident as an obvious attempt to assassinate him.

Some Congressmen Believe Problem Issue for States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Outside of some complaining and possibly a committee hearing for the official record, Congress isn't likely to do anything this year about the Supreme Court ruling that congressional districts should be more uniform in population.

"For one thing," a highly placed House Democrat said privately, "we just don't have time this year to deal with such a complicated subject. For another thing, most of us think it's none of our business how the states map out their districts."

Wants Uniformity

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee long has advocated that Congress take the lead in trying to get more uniformity in congressional redistricting. He introduced a bill to do that more than a year ago but has been unable to obtain action in his own committee.

He said he would try again this year but wasn't optimistic about success.

Another proposal not expected to gain acceptance came from Texas congressmen. They are seeking legislation that supports the Supreme Court decision but preserves present districts until state legislatures can act in their regular sessions. Such a bill would prevent the 23 Texas congressmen from having to run at large this November.

A three-judge federal court at Houston has ruled the present Texas districts unconstitutional, but the decision has been stayed pending an appeal.

In New Haven, Conn., the Hartford Courant filed a suit in U.S. District Court that would force Connecticut's six congressmen to run at large November unless the state stomach ulcers and in great pain. He is expected to undergo surgery in a few days.

The king was expected to sign the decree today.

A medical bulletin from the royal palace announced last night that the 62-year-old king was suffering from a stomach ulcer and in great pain. He is expected to undergo surgery in a few days.

The king has made no public appearances in the last two months and has kept to the palace, 26 miles north of Athens. Last month he was reported suffering from lumbago, but a bulletin on Feb. 9 said he had recovered.

Rumors about the king's health have circulated since his wife, Queen Frederika, cut short a trip to the United States and flew home Jan. 25. Palace sources said the announcement withheld to forestall anxiety during last Sunday's national elections which brought Premier

20 Rescued but Hopes Are Dim for Other Survivors

NEW YORK (AP)—A Coast Guard cutter and planes continued searching the North Atlantic today for 14 men missing from the storm-battered British grain ship Ambassador, but their survival was considered improbable.

Twenty of the 33 crew members have been rescued. The captain died.

Flooding Stopped

The Coast Guard cutter Coos Bay radioed early today that the tugboat Elbe put men aboard the Ambassador, they stopped flooding in the ship and the tug started towing her to the Azores Islands. The Elbe, had sped to the Ambassador for salvage purposes and arrived Wednesday night.

The Coos Bay and the planes continued to look for liferafts.

Weather in the vicinity of the Ambassador improved considerably before dawn.

Twenty-one of the men aboard the vessel when she began to take on water and listed badly were dramatically picked up by crewmen of the cutter and the Norwegian freighter Fruen.

But Capt. Harry Strickland, master of the Ambassador, was dead when brought aboard the Coos Bay.

Tuesday morning, about 600 miles southeast of Halifax, N.S., the Ambassador radioed for assistance, saying its engines were dead and it was helpless in the heavy seas.

The death of a Fond du Lac woman has raised the 1964 Wisconsin traffic toll to 127, compared with 75 on this date one year ago.

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Steffen, 24, of Fond du Lac, was killed early today when the car she was driving missed a curve on Sheboygan County Trunk P and ward H. White II, say they first on the judicial qualifications of Supreme Court candidates ever conducted by the State Bar. He said the ballots would go in the mail next Wednesday.

The ballots, Habermann said, will offer three choices, "qualified," "not qualified," or "no opinion." He did not say why the beard had decided to make the poll.

The three candidates are incumbent Justice Horace Wilkie, and attorneys Howard Boyle Jr., of Beaver Dam and Harry L. Larsen of Superior.

Lake last week 83-59 while the Lions fell prey to the Chilton Tigers.

In a game tied at halftime, 32-32, the Panthers pulled up by six in third quarter and 18 in the fourth to stay in a third place tie with Sheboygan Falls and Oostburg.

Well-Balanced Threat

The Panthers will put a well-balanced scoring threat on the floor. Last week Scott Johnson, Fred Kulow and Jack Gebler all scored 18 points. Lion center John Lindner led the attack against Chilton with 12 points.

The Lions now hold on to last place in the league with a 1-10 record while Plymouth boasts a 7-4 count.

The big game of the evening will be staged at Valders where the first place Vikings will play host to the second place Huskies. The Vikings are 10-1 while the Huskies have a 9-2 record.

A win for the Huskies would put the two teams into a tie for the top spot in the league. Last week's action saw the Huskies trim Kiel, 63-33 while the Vikings edged Kohler, 69-65.

Other Action

Other action in the league will be at Elkhart Lake where the Resorters will take on the Oostburg Flying Dutchmen. Elkhart Lake is 3-8 in league action while the Flying Dutchmen are in a three way tie for third place with a 7-4 count.

To round off league action the Kohler Blue Bombers will travel to Sheboygan Falls. Defending scoring champ and leading again this year, Mike Maurer, has scored 235 for the Falcons. Falls is 7-4 and Kohler has a 4-7 tally in league play.

Waupaca Bids for Clear CWC Title

Meets I-S Saturday; League Will Play Double Round

Waupaca High School can wrap up the championship of the Central Wisconsin Basketball Conference Saturday night when the Comets meet Iola-Scandinavia.

The league plays a double round this weekend and then winds up play the following week.

Waupaca draws a bye for Friday night action and does not play until Saturday. The Comets currently have a 13-1 record with two games to play and a 2½-game lead over runnerup Weyauwega.

Games Friday have Wautoma at Bonduel, Manawa at Amherst, Weyauwega at Marion, and Iola-Scandinavia at Wittenberg. In Saturday night action, Amherst goes to Wautoma, Marion is at Manawa, Wittenberg visits Weyauwega and Waupaca is at Iola-Scandinavia.

Waupaca scored an 82-63 victory over Iola-Scandinavia in the first meeting between the two teams and the Comets have appeared as an improved club right along. IS occupies the league cellar with only one victory in 13 games.

Weyauwega has only slim title hopes remaining and those hinge on the fact that Waupaca.

Outagamie Democrats Seek To End Split in County Unit

See Fracture as Side Effect of Wisconsin Party Differences

Outagamie County Democrats for 14 years. He (Lewis) isn't a leader. Wednesday began making efforts to reunite the county party after a split that came to a head with the defeat of Mrs. Shirley Cherkasky, county-backed national party convention delegate, by Dean Lewis, second precinct county vice chairman backed by Gov. John Reynolds. The split, broken open at the Eighth District caucus in Green Bay Tuesday, was not caused by intra-county differences, but was a side-effect of the state party's split between the Sen. Gaylord Nelson-State Chairman J. Louis Hanson faction and the Reynolds-Patrick Lucey camp.

Mrs. Cherkasky, backed for more than a month by the county party, aligned herself with the Hanson-Nelson bloc at a state committee roll call on vacancy-filling in January. Lewis was Reynolds' campaign chairman in Outagamie County in 1962 and since has served as Reynolds' representative in the county.

Reynolds Thursday told Lewis he wanted Lewis on his slate of Eighth District delegate candidates. Lewis made several attempts to be replaced on the governor's slate over the week-end to avoid a county split, but the governor asked him to remain.

Mrs. Cherkasky and Lewis not on any slate, but trying to confer before the election build for the party a high-profile and made clear there were no personal differences between them as opposing candidates. But other county party members, irked by Reynolds' action, went into the caucus with some hostilities.

Lester Balliet, Outagamie party chairman, second Mrs. Cherkasky's nomination, said, "There are and have been no us who to vote for." At this point personal differences between the governor and Mrs. Reynolds Mrs. Cherkasky and myself, and left the caucus room and did not return until after Balliet finished his speech.

Served Faithfully Balliet continued, "Shirley's served the Democrats faithfully."

Clintonville Creates Plan Commission

Mayor, 7 Others Are Appointed As First Members

CLINTONVILLE — An ordinance creating a city plan commission was adopted by a special meeting Tuesday night.

The commission will consist of the mayor as presiding officer, the director of public works, the president of the park board, an alderman and three citizens.

Mayor Frank Sinkewicz explained that with the city planning to go into the 701 federal aid program, a city planning commission was necessary.

Confirm Appointments Council confirmed Mayor Sinkewicz's appointments to the planning commission. Aid. Evan Heitke, vice chairman; Fred Beckman, chairman of the park board; Basil Arvey, director of public works, secretary, and Herbert Hansen, one year member-at-large, Kenneth Luebke, two years, and Walter Martin, three years, were confirmed appointees.

Following passage of the ordinance creating the planning commission, council passed a resolution that the city request the Department of Resource Development make application to the Housing and Home Finance Agency for Urban Planning Assistance.

The city will provide one-third of the cost of the proposed planning work and provide for a continuing planning program, the resolution said.

Board Buys New Books At Hilbert

HILBERT — The school board Monday night approved the replacement of elementary readers and social studies textbooks. Arnold Chada, superintendent, reported that some of the books were outdated by 20 years. When asked by the board why the books had been allowed to get so old, Chada said there must have been some confusion when the school consolidated.

Board President Walter Vollmer stated the board had never turned down a request for elementary books.

A purchase of textbooks for a new mathematics course for elementary students was also approved by the board.

A cost estimate of all textbooks was not available and will be discussed at the next meeting.

CHILTON — A second contest no more than two consecutive on the Republican side of the terms.

The other race thus far has Sylvester Simon, Darboy, vying with incumbent assemblyman Wilmer Strubing, (Rep) rural Brillion, for the party nod.

Kosmosky, 56, was a county patrolman before being elected sheriff in 1950. Stop Light Timing Off

Cold or Gear May be Hampering Control at Chilton

CHILTON — The timing on the new traffic lights is three seconds off, the city council was told Tuesday night.

The green light on Madison street, the north-south street of the intersection of Main and Madison, was originally specified to remain on for 33 seconds, a stop watch timing shows only 30 seconds.

A representative from McMahon Engineering, stated a number of possible causes for the discrepancy. Cold weather could have slowed the motors—the original plans called for a small heater to be placed in the control box but it was not installed. A motor will be installed that is not affected by the weather, he said.

Another possible reason for the mis-timing is a faulty gear in the control box, he explained. Household Utilities Co., Kiel, the firm which installed the lights has been contacted.

Continued Air Service Backed For Clintonville

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner Edward T. Stodola Wednesday recommended Green Bay and Clintonville both should continue to receive scheduled North Central Airline service.

He said La Crosse, Rhinelander, Land O'Lakes, Ashland, Ironwood, Mich., and Winona, Minn., should continue to receive air service, also.

Stodola also said that Wausau, Stevens Point, Marshfield and Wisconsin Rapids should be served through a new regional airport located near Mosinee.

He said "that in the event that the concept of a regional airport for Central Wisconsin should for one reason or another not be realized, then the region should be served through two area or regional airports."

"Wausau and Stevens Point would be the regional sites, with Marshfield being served by the airport in Wausau and Wisconsin Rapids through the airport at Stevens Point."

New London Seeks Water Rate Hike At PSC Hearing

Utility Wants More Revenue To Offset Costs of New Well

NEW LONDON — A public hearing to increase New London's water rates and to develop a new well and pumping station will be held Monday in Madison before the Public Service Commission.

L. K. Thomas, water utility manager, said the city is asking for a 3 1/2 per cent rate of return on their water rates over and above construction costs of the new well and facilities. The city now has a 2 1/2 per cent rate of return which amounted to about $7,000 net last year. He said the city is about $17,000 per year below the rate of return permitted to utilities.

Although the department is asking that the rate of return be raised almost double, this does not mean that water rates in the city would double, Thomas said. He estimated that the increase in water rates would be about 2 1/2 per cent, and said the exact rates will be set by the Public Service Commission if the increased rate of return is approved. This new raise will not affect the rate charged by the sewerage utility, Thomas said.

Officials Discuss Legal Action on Kilsdonk Killing Investigation May Be Taken to Grand Jury or Inquest

Possibilities that the murder case of Mrs. Marvin Kilsdonk, pretty Black Creek farmwife found dead in her home last December, may be taken to a grand jury or a coroner's inquest were discussed Tuesday by Outagamie County authorities and William Platz, assistant attorney general.

Current Rates The present rates for water in the city is $2.75 per month for the first 10,000 gallons, 20 cents a thousand for the next 40,000 gallons; 14 cents a thousand for the next 150,000 gallons, 10 cents a thousand for the next 800,000 gallons, six cents a thousand for the next four million gallons, and 5 1/2 cents a thousand for water over 5 million gallons.

Estimated costs of the proposed well and pumping and treatment facilities is $93,970. Thomas said this is a two-year project. The well and piping will be completed this year at an estimated cost of $53,729. The remaining $40,241 will be used in 1965 for reinforcement of water mains throughout the entire city.

The new well will be located at the east end of Douglas Street near the utility sub-station. The property is owned by the city.

Authorities said today no definite plan of action resulted from the discussion. The talk was a "strategy" meeting on how to proceed in the murder investigation, authorities said.

Mrs. Kilsdonk, 28, was found lying on the kitchen floor by her husband when he returned from work Dec. 18. She had been stabbed repeatedly about the head, shoulders and chest. Her 4-month-old son was found unharmed on a kitchen table near his mother's body.

Dedication will begin with mass at 11 a.m. Open house will be sometime after Easter.

Cost of the chapel, the largest portion of the new addition, has been assumed by the Sisters of Charity, who run the home for the aged. However, they said any donations will be accepted to help equip the new portion.

Also included in the building and remodeling was the remodeling of two rooms for chaplains quarters and a nurses station.

BEAR CREEK — Fire of unknown origin swept through one of the last old landmarks at Bear Creek Corners Wednesday afternoon when the barn owned by Leon Zitske burned to the ground.

Mrs. Zitske discovered the fire in the barn, which was one mile west of here on State 22, when she happened to look out the window of their nearby home.

By this time, flames were licking through the gable end of the structure, and the blaze was being fanned by a sharp north-west wind.

Firemen from the Bear Creek Department, and Clintonville, rural truck and tanker, concentrated efforts on protecting nearby buildings as the wind carried burning embers hundreds of feet.

Hay Destroyed Destroyed in the blazing 36 by 60 foot barn was 25 tons of baled hay owned by Zitske, and 50-60 tons of baled hay belonging to Marvin Wisniefski, Bear Creek, a neighbor who rented part of the barn.

A chopper wagon owned by Wisniefski also was destroyed. Firemen were unable to save a nearby pumphouse and a granary, and a concrete stove silo was badly scorched.

No Estimates Neither Zitske or Wisniefski were home at the time of the fire.

There was no estimate of damage, and no one was injured. No cattle were in the barn, and the granary was empty. Zitske said the loss was partially covered by insurance.

The barn was about 70 years old. It was one of the last remaining buildings of the old lumberjack community.

School Study Committee Set

Citizen Group at Fremont to Probe Reorganization

FREMONT — A newly organized citizens committee will study methods to be employed in school district reorganization here.

The appointments of Mrs. Janet Mead, Loren Stevens, Reinhold Koehler, William Mathwig and Evan Redemann were confirmed at a meeting Monday evening with the board of education.

The study committee was suggested by Otto Neumann, county superintendent of schools, at an informal meeting earlier this month. An unofficial straw vote taken at that meeting favored reorganization by a 45-23 margin. The integration choice calls for formation of a kindergarten through grade twelve district with Weyauwega.

The board of education and the committee met with H. J. Ramsdell, Weyauwega, Union High School superintendent, Tuesday.

Village Trying To Set Garbage Pick-Up Routes

LITTLE CHUTE — The street committee of the village board is attempting to work out a garbage collection route in the community which will make it possible for residents to be assured of having garbage collected at regular intervals, according to Edward Spierings, committee chairman.

All residents are asked to have garbage set at the curb on Monday mornings for the next month. Village crews will then keep track of how much of the village can be covered in a given day and which areas are collected on subsequent days. When a workable routine is established, residents will be notified as to what days collection will be held in the future.

The committee indicated, a month's trial was necessary before a true picture could be had of the procedure to follow.

Winnebago Miffed Over CAB Airport Decision

Recommendation Field Be Built Near Neenah Makes Outagamie Happy

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Winnebago County sources appear to be miffed about Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner Edward T. Stodola's recommendation that a new regional airport be built near Neenah to serve the Appleton-Oshkosh area.

Outagamie County officials, on the other hand, are elated. E. G. Steinhilber, supervisor of the Neenah area, said the end result of the North Central area regional airport investigation "is that a mountain of River Valley undoubtedly influenced his decision."

Transfer Service Steinhilber's reference was directed at Stodola's report which near Neenah is not built, is the regional airport for this then present airline service should be transferred from the old to the new Outagamie County Airport, now under construction, and that Oshkosh should retain its present airline service.

He suggested that "perhaps by the people of Winnebago County might want to put this question in a referendum at the April election." He added, "It would be interesting to see what the people think as an entire county unit."

Alvin Fulmer, chairman of the Outagamie County Board, called it "a good decision. It proves ours is a necessary facility."

"Now that Washington has come along with our opinion, we all feel very enthusiastic about going ahead with our new airport project at the most rapid pace possible."

Echoes Views Winnebago County Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber, son of E. G. Steinhilber, echoed his father's views.

"After tons and tons of paper work over the last year and only on a two paragraph story here we wind up with practically the same thing we had. We still maintained," he said, "that we have a regional airport here in Oshkosh. Stodola's recommendations were not based upon the criteria set forth for the original study. It was supposed to take in Fond du Lac, Green Lake and Waushara counties, but he only included Winnebago and Outagamie."

"The idea was to cut down service and combine stops and

"Same Thing" Steinhilber said it is "prematuring" to state whether Stodola's remarks may reopen the possibility of regional airport talks between the two counties.

"I don't preclude anything as a possibility. . . we've got to give this Neenah site some thought in view of his (Stodola's) report."

"Open Mind" "I shall approach this with an open mind, but remember, I feel very deeply that we have a good airport and that Appleton should have joined us in promoting it from the start."

Fulmer said that on the basis of the report, "I don't think there's any question but that the majority of future North Central Airlines stops will have to be at the Outagamie Airport."

"Even if our new airport had been a joint project, the location still would have been good, because its only two or three miles from the vicinity for a joint airport that Stodola is talking about."

1964 Basis "If they (Winnebago) wish to sit down and talk regional airport with us now, we'll have to talk on the basis of 1964, not 1960 when we first approached them."

"But," he asked, "Would it be advisable for us to cancel our project and move two or three miles to the south? All of this points to a site near Neenah and that's where we are. Now it's merely a matter of economics."

Joseph Drexler, chairman of the Winnebago County Board, said, "I have no comment to make at this time since we don't have any details. Mr. (Robert) Lester, our Washington attorney, is in Puerto Rico."

Noon lunch was served in the multi-purpose room. It was followed by a hootenanny in the gym.

Sports day chairman was Lynn Mortenson. Committee chairmen include Signe Knudsen, registration; Kathy Groenier and Dorothy Thoe, programs and name tags; Jane Paulson and Lupe Muzoz, hostesses; Mary Gjerston, checkroom; Delores Nassen and Kathy Hoffman, equipment; Judy Gjerston, refreshments; Darleen Leean and Sandy Knutson, entertainment; Lynn Mortenson, officials; Delores Nassen, timers and scorers; and Sandra Burnam, clean-up.

Lawyer's Visit Denied; Man Freed of Charge

Accused of Topsy Driving; Court Dismisses Case

Acting Circuit Judge Gustave J. Keller today ruled constitutional rights were denied Leland H. Joannes, 71, Green Bay, and dismissed a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol against him.

Attorneys for Joannes, Urban Van Susteren and Edward Boltenbeck, both of Appleton, contended Joannes' attorney Fred Trowbridge, Green Bay, was not allowed to visit or talk to his client while Joannes was confined in the Outagamie County jail after his arrest by state police March 29, 1963.

Judge Keller ruled the client's rights were denied him when he was not allowed to confer with his attorney.

Joannes was arrested by State Patrolman William LaFave about 11:30 p.m. and accused of driving erratically on U. S. 41 north of Kaukauna. Taken to the Outagamie county jail, Joannes was examined by a doctor and given a breathalyzer test.

He then asked permission to call his attorney, and permission was granted. Joannes then was confined in a cell to await his attorney.

Trowbridge testified today when he arrived at the jail, he was denied permission by two jailers to see his client.

The two jailers on duty are no longer employed by the Outagamie County sheriff's department, and did not testify today.

The motion to dismiss the charge was brought before the court before a circuit court jury of 12 men had been picked to hear the case.

Joannes had pleaded innocent and requested a 12-man jury when he was arraigned in March, 1963.

herst businessmen. A preliminary game between two grade school teams will start at 7:15 p.m.

Proceeds of the game will be used to send the high school band to the Lion's convention at Lake Delton in May.

Red China Wants Asia Free of West Influence

Matches Ardor of U. S. Efforts To Chase Communists From Cuba

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — When Americans stop being mad at Fidel Castro long enough to reflect about the shoe on the other foot, Red China comes to mind — and it isn't pleasant.
Since the Red Chinese are not the mousy type, this country can be sure its desire to eliminate Castro and communism from this hemisphere is matched by Red China's ardor to rid all Asia of Western influence.
The more so since this country has some history of doing unto others what it doesn't want others to do to the United States. The classic example was in missiles.

Reds Irritated
The Russians were irritated to no end when the United States put missiles in their backyard, in Turkey and Italy. But when Russia put missiles in Cuba the United States screamed and there was a crisis.
This was resolved when Russia pulled its missiles out of Cuba and this country took its missiles out of Turkey and Italy.

Federal Audit For MGIC Stock

IRS Is Checking Transactions From 1960 Through 1962

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The district director of the Internal Revenue Service said an audit is being made of individual transactions in Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corp. (MGIC) stock from 1960 through 1962.

Emil J. Nelson said the audit was requested by revenue service officials in Washington, D.C., and was the result of information on MGIC stock coming out of the Senate Rules Committee investigation of the affairs of Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, former secretary of the Senate's Democratic majority. Hearing testimony indicated MGIC stock purchases were the base for a fortune accumulated by Baker.

Nelson said the audit was routine. The company has about 7,500 stockholders, about 40 per cent of them living in Wisconsin.

"We are asking them for information regarding transactions in the stock," Nelson said. "We want to know how many shares they bought, when the purchase was made, what price was paid for the stock and, if any shares were sold, how many were sold, when the sale occurred and how much it was sold for."

The price of MGIC shares began to soar in late 1960, increasing in value about 100 per cent.

Locations Set For 'Sabin on Sunday' Clinics

Outagamie Medical Society Plans Polio Vaccine Program

Sabin vaccine clinics will be conducted by the Outagamie County Medical Society at 10 locations in the county March 8 and April 19.

Because both dates fall on Sunday, the slogan for the mass program is "Sabin on Sunday" with all county residents urged to get their first dose of oral vaccine in March and the follow-up in April.

Five clinics will be in Appleton, society officials announced today, and include Huntley, Jefferson, Madison, Morgan and St. Pius X schools.

Other clinics will be at New London Catholic grade school, the old Kimberly High School, Kaukauna High, Seymour High and Hortonville High schools.

Clinics will be conducted from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. with residents being charged 25 cents a dose. Medical authorities say there are no side effects from the oral vaccine which is being administered in other parts of the state.

Anyone over two years of age can take oral vaccine, which is being purchased from a drug manufacturer by the Medical Society.

The oral vaccine program has been sanctioned by the State Board of Health and the U. S. Health Service.

Broken Water Line Gives Students Day Off

Xavier High School student body received an unexpected free day Wednesday, courtesy of a broken water line.

School was dismissed at 11 a.m. because of the break which left the building without water.

The city water department was working on the line in front of the school, and school officials hope it will be repaired in time for classes tomorrow.

Anti-Litter Folders Being Distributed to Wisconsin Schools

Teacher's guides of suggested litter-prevention activities have been sent to all public and parochial school administrators and county 4-H leaders by the Governor's Committee to Keep Wisconsin Clean and Beautiful.

"Nobody Loves a Litterbug!" is a 6-page folder designed for Fourth Grade elementary school teachers. "It's Everybody's Job!" is an 8-page pamphlet designed for Ninth Grade classes in agriculture, home economics and social studies.

T. E. Branagan, Neenah, committee chairman, reported to Gov. John W. Reynolds requests already had been received from 35 schools and seven county departments for about 1,500 additional copies.

The guides were developed by Keep America Beautiful, Inc. and provided by courtesy of Sears, Roebuck and Co. A limited quantity will be kept available for requests from civic clubs or youth organizations.
